LBJ TAPS HUMPHREY

Johnson Chosen By Acclamation

. . . TELLS REPORTERS SECRET

Convention Hall, Atlantic City (AP)—Democrats in national convention nominated Lyndon B. Johnson for President Wednesday night and then Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota for the vice presidency.

This is the one-two punch that will go against the Republican duo of Barry Goldwater and William E. Miller on the political battlefield of 1964. They promised to deliver a rousing victory in November.

Jubilant, the Democrats nominated Johnson by acclamation without a voice heard in dissent.

Then it was Humphrey's turn, by reason of a tap on the shoulder from the President. It was acclamation for him, too.

Johnson strode in triumph into the convention to thank it for the honor it gave him and stir up a tremendous roar of approval with the thundered word:

Begin March

"I will be with you tomorrow to begin the march toward an overwhelming victory for our party and for our nation."

Thursday he comes back to accept his nomination formally and take part in a gigantic boardwalk party celebrating his 56th birthday. Humphrey's acceptance speech was put over until Thursday night, also.

Wednesday night Johnson visited the scene of his greatest political triumph not on his own behalf but to tell the party loyal he wanted Humphrey for a running mate.

"If you select him," he said, "you can proudly say to the American people, this is not a sectional choice. This is not merely just a way to balance the ticket. This is simply the best man in America for this job."

The noise that remark stirred up seemed to make it certain the convention delegates agreed. They had figured Humphrey for the vice presidential spot all along.

Summoned Hubert

But Johnson didn't tip his hand on the pick he made until Wednesday afternoon. He summoned Humphrey to Washington and let out the secret just before the two flew to Atlantic City to pass it on to the convention.

The President took over the rostrum in Convention Hall after his own nomination had been approved.

"In the last three days," he said, "the noble Democrats who are delegates to this convention have made a great start toward a great Democratic victory. You have built a platform on which I am proud to stand, a platform built on solid performance and framed for a future of prosperity and peace."

He said, he, too, had been working to carry out an obligation under the old American tradition that the presidential nominee recommends a vice presidential candidate.

He said he had reached a decision after consulting party leaders in every section and at every level of government, along with outstanding Americans in every area of national life.

'Long Thought'

"I have reached it," he said, "after long and prayerful thought, consulting my own experience of that office and the burdens that it brings.

"All of this has had a single guide, to find a man best qualified to assume the office of the president of the United States, should that day come. I have found such a man."

The man who is so deeply aware that a vice president sometimes becomes president said that Humphrey has been tested and proven in political campaigning and elections.

He said he has had a long, distinguished experience in public life as executive and legislator—"And every step has been marked by excellence and achievement."

"He knows the problems of all of our people in every part of our nation," Johnson said.

"He knows the world, and he knows its problems."

At the end of the speech, Humphrey and his family came in to join the President and his family at the podium, to hear the acclaim of the delegates and return cheers and salutes and waves and smiles.

Couldn't Keep It

Johnson had kept silent on his choice for a running mate for weeks — if he had made it. But he couldn't keep the secret Wednesday night.

Just before taking off from Washington on a flight to Atlantic City and the convention, the President walked over to reporters with Humphrey by his side.

"Meet the next vice president," he said.

Humphrey grinned and accepted congratulations.

At about that instant, the gavel came down to bring to order the nominating session of the convention here.

For a time delegates were unaware that Johnson finally had given out the word.

They were jammed by the thousands into this cavernous auditorium — along with balloons, badges, bunting, cornstalks, plastic donkeys, and noise and more noise.

—THREAT— Chrysler Target Of Strike

Detroit (UPI)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther Wednesday night announced Chrysler Corp., was the strike target for this year's auto negotiations and issued a strike threat effective at 10 a.m. Sept. 9.

Contracts with Chrysler expire at midnight, Aug. 31 and Reuther's announcement, in effect, was an extension of the strike deadline.

Reuther announced he was asking for a day-to-day extension of the contracts at General Motors and Ford, and asking the 450,000 workers at those two companies to remain on the job, pending the outcome of Chrysler negotiations.

Reuther made the announcement at a jam-packed press conference in Solidarity House, the union's modern headquarters along the Detroit River front. The action by the union's executive board came following a three-hour meeting.

Reuther told the newsmen the board reviewed the status of the eight-week old negotiations, the companies' "unrealistic and inequitable" offers and decided on a strike to back up the UAW's demands.

"The board authorized a strike against the Chrysler Corp. at 10 a.m. Sept. 9," Reuther said. "Between now and that date we will make every good faith effort to reach an agreement. We will bargain day and night if necessary."

The union president said, "we are also asking workers at Ford and GM to remain on the job and requesting the companies for a day-to-day extension of the contracts."

Reuther said that the union members have never been as ready to strike as they are now. He said that in many plants, up to 98% of the workers approved strike action if it is required.

The UAW president again attacked the "fantastic profits" of the big three firms, coupled with their "selfish attitude" in offering new contracts to the union.

Reuther and other union leaders had estimated the companies' offers made last week at 35 cents an hour over three years.

JFK Library Display Product Of Nebraskan

By DON WALTON

Atlantic City — The John F. Kennedy Library exhibit which attracted its one millionth viewer this week in Atlantic City is substantially the product of an Omahan, Mrs. George Abdouch.

The exhibit was viewed by some 50,000 persons during its two-day stay here, or more than two thousand persons an hour.

Helen Abdouch, who is a member of Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy's staff in Washington, looked after the operation just as she has done previously in New York City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

The exhibit features memorabilia of all description, documents, books, a movie, the President's desk and his rocking chair. It is designed to stimulate interest in the Kennedy Library which will be constructed along the backs of the Charles River in Boston.

Tour Country

"The traveling exhibit was the Attorney General's idea", Mrs. Abdouch said.

"He wanted it to tour the country until the library is built. He asked me to work out a memorandum on the plan, including the technical details which would need to be faced.

"I did that, and he was very enthusiastic with the result. After a couple of months, we were able to put it together".

Although Mrs. Abdouch has been traveling with the exhibit (which moves on trucks) She will not be accompanying it on its next stop in Charleston. Mrs. Abdouch will return to Washington from Atlantic City, then rejoin the exhibit in Atlanta for Labor Day weekend.

The exhibit has been invited to Omaha, and, "We hope to go there", Mrs. Abdouch said. It is booked solidly through Sept. 18 when it will move east from San Francisco.

Original Items

The exhibit contains all original items and no reproductions, Mrs. Abdouch noted. Mrs. John F. Kennedy made the final selection, and Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln offered her recommendations. Mrs. Lincoln, who was President Kennedy's private secretary, is herself a former Nebraskan.

"People stand in line for hours," Mrs. Abdouch said. The Attorney General has visited the exhibit a number of times, including here in Atlantic City when he created the greatest stir yet on the boardwalk.

Mrs. Abdouch was the guiding light in the Nebraska Citizens for Kennedy organization during the 1960 presidential campaign. Following the election, she joined the Attorney General's staff.

Minnie Olson of Omaha, president of the AMO Club, Inc., presented Mrs. Abdouch Wednesday with a $500 check for the library.

State Demos Have $53,500 For Race

Lincoln Star Special

Atlantic City — Nebraska Democrats have allocated from their party treasury $53,500 in campaign funds, most of it on a matching basis.

The allocation was made by the state executive committee some time ago, and revealed to The Star Wednesday at its request.

Candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, U.S. Senate and the three congressional seats will receive $8,000 each. Candidates for secretary of state, attorney general, state treasurer and state auditor will get $1,000 each, and the nominees for three seats on the state railway commission will each receve $500.

Every candidate has already received at least 25% of his allocation, state chairman John Mitchell of Kearney said.

Nebraska Democrats, he said, have "a fair amount of money in the bank," most of it raised by last year's Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner.

Additional campaign funds will be raised by the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner scheduled for next month.

Twenty-five per cent of each candidate's allocation is immediately available, Mitchell said. The remaining 75% will be allocated on a matching basis whereby each dollar from the party treasury must be matched by a dollar raised by the individual candidate.

"In this manner, if the candidate does not have any outside support, we will not be wasting party money," Mitchell said

Sen. Craft Hospitalized

North Platte (UPI)—State Sen. Cecil I. Craft, of North Platte, suffered a heart attack at his home Wednesday and was hospitalized at Memorial Hospital here.

His doctor said his condition was "not good, but not critical."

Craft, 55, was a member of the regular session of the unicameral in 1961. He was re-elected in 1962. He is opposed for another term this November by Joseph Chambers of North Platte.

Craft, who is a partner in an engineering firm, is married and the father of four children.

27 Deaths Cause Cut

Appleton, Wis. (UPI) — Outagamie County Coroner Bernard Kemps said he would ask the state highway commission to reduce the speed limit on a 12-mile stretch of U.S. 45 near here because of 27 traffic fatalities.

Hurricane Grazes SE Florida Coast

From Press Reports

Miami — Hurricane-force wind gusts of 75 miles per hour hit Miami's Key Biscayne early Thursday as killer Hurricane Cleo grazed southeast Florida's Gold Coast.

The Miami weather bureau predicted winds up to 80 mph as the center of the hurricane "moves very near and possibly on shore" in its northward advance along the rich tourist area between Miami and Palm Beach.

At 1 a.m. EST (2 a.m. EDT), the center of the hurricane was located 25 miles southeast of Miami at latitude 25.5 north, longitude 80.0 west. It was moving at about 12 mph on a course slightly west of due north.

Forecasters said the center would pass a very short distance east of downtown Miami about 3 a.m. EST (4 a.m. EDT).

"Tides will range from 3 to 6 feet (above normal) with the highest tides likely between Fort Lauderdale and Palm Beach."

Key Biscayne is a six-mile-long island southeast of Miami. Nearly half the island is occupied by Miami's famed Crandon Park beach and the remainder is filled with homes, shops and several hotels and motels.

Forecasters said the full fury of the storm could hit Grand Bahama Island sometime Thursday. Reports from the island resort said one of the last air flights into Freeport had brought 100 vacationers from New York.

The Miami weather bureau lowered all warnings south of Miami, but kept the double red and black hurricane flags flying northward to Jupiter Inlet, just north of Palm Beach.

The island of Bimini, about 35 miles offshore, was struck by gales, with gusts of 60 miles an hour and better.

In downtown Miami, winds reached 72 m.p.h., just two miles under hurricane force.

Electric power in many sections of Miami was cut off by trees downing electric lines and power transformers short circuiting, but there were no early reports of extensive property damage or injuries.

Most of the residents of Key Biscayne, a residential island just offshore, had been evacuated.

Big Fire Sweeps Neb. City

Nebraska City (AP)—Fire departments from 14 towns raced into Nebraska City Wednesday night to aid in fighting a fire that destroyed a quarter of a block in downtown Nebraska City between 9th and 10th streets on Central Avenue.

Destroyed were the Wessell Department Store, the city's largest, and the Lima Clothing Store and a vacant building used seasonally by the Hamburg Hatchery.

The fire, believed to have started from a trash can in an alley, was brought under control after two and a half hours. Damaged by smoke and water was the recently completed Otoe County Bank building.

There was no firm estimate, but observers said damage may run as high as a million dollars. The fire was described by a Nebraska City resident of 47 years as the worst in the history of the city.

Aiding the Nebraska City firemen were departments from Dunbar, Avoca, Plattsmouth, Union, Syracuse, Weeping Water, Auburn, Unadilla, Talmage, Brock and Peru in Nebraska and from Hamburg, Benton Township and Thurman in Iowa.

The last big fire in Nebraska City was one that destroyed the Hoppe Lumber Company eight years ago.

Girl's Dreams Of Becoming Helicopter Pilot 'Shattered'

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

North Loup — Michelle Markley is well on her way to becoming one of the youngest—if not the youngest—female pilots in the state.

But her hopes of being the youngest girl helicopter pilot in the nation have been shattered, literally.

A 17-year-old North Loup High School senior, Micky holds a student certificate which allows her to solo—which she has—and to fly with a licensed pilot in a dual-control airplane.

Flew With Dad

Dad, Dr. Murray Markley, started her instruction as she flew with him in his twin-engine Beechcraft. Further lessons were logged in single-engine planes with instructors from Grand Island and Burwell.

The coveted pilot's license is just a little work away.

"I've just got to buckle down and study," said Micky, noting several aeronautics books, she'll have to plow through.

Minimum age for a pilot's license in the state is 17, so the bright-eyed lass is working toward getting it before her 18th birthday.

And the helicopter training?

Micky had been learning the controls of her dad's chopper, too, and the doctor was only about a test away from receiving his instructor's permit for the craft.

Dr. Markley had been featured in Life magazine and become quite well-known in the area for making calls on his patients with his own whirlybird.

Sudden Halt

But that business came to a sudden halt a few weeks ago.

While flying Ord Quiz editor Kerry Leggett on a picture taking mission along the Loup River, the helicopter caught a power line and crashed into the river with its two passengers.

Neither man was seriously injured, but the helicopter was rendered incapable of further missions.

So the copter lessons will have to wait until another craft is acquired, which Dad says "will be quite awhile."

Pope Warns That Foundations Of Peace Are Crumbling

Castel Gandolfo, Italy (AP)—With a warning that some of the basic principles on which peace is founded are crumbling, Pope Paul VI appealed to all nations Wednesday to avoid an arms buildup.

In issuing a 1,300-word major peace appeal, the Pope said his thoughts were stirred by the current anniversary commemorations of the start of World Wars I and II.

Vatican circles noted it came during prolonged and deteriorating conflicts in Cyprus, Viet Nam and the Congo.

The pontiff issued his appeal at his weekly general audience at the papal summer residence.

Another Step

It amounted to another step in a peace drive the Pope started Aug. 10 with his encyclical "Ecclesiam Suam" (His Church).

Pope Paul said the 50th anniversary of World War I and 25th anniversary of World War II moved him to talk about "the acute disagreements, already stained with blood and pregnant with menacing omens, existing today between various countries."

The Pope said further:

"We are now witnessing this frightening phenomenon: the crumbling of some of those basic principles on which peace must be founded, and the firm possession of which was thought achieved after the tragic experiences of the two world wars . . .

Life Inviolable

"Yet again there is obscured the concept of the sacred and inviolable character of human life, and once more men are being calculated in function of their numbers, their possible efficiency in war, and not by reason of their dignity, their needs, their common brotherhood.

"New symptoms are noted of a regrowth of divisions and oppositions between peoples, between the various races and different cultures: This spirit of division is guided by nationalistic pride, by prestige politics, the armaments race, social and economic antagonisms.

"There returns the illusory concept that peace can only be based on the terrifying power of extremely homicidal weapons . . ."

Nations Threatened

Pope Paul also said the tranquility of entire nations is threatened by "the organization from outside of subversive propaganda and revolutionary disorders: Even pacifist declamation is misused to promote social and political contrasts."

He apparently was referring to pro-Communist peace movements and Marxist political activity in places like Latin America.

"Men of good will! Listen to our humble voice, that of a brother and a father . . ." said the pontiff.

"Extend to the depths of men's hearts an invitation to wise and responsible reflection . . ."

Appeal

Pope Paul said his words were an appeal to put "human dignity and fraternal accord" above every other interest and value.

In his first encyclical two weeks ago, he said he was willing to intervene in disputes between nations to help just solutions. A few days later he urged Greece, Turkey and Cyprus to resolve the Cyprus problem.

Wednesday he said that war-like episodes in some parts of the world were "exhausting the mediating capacity of the organizations instituted to maintain peace in security" and normal diplomatic methods of getting conclusive results.

—VIET NAM—

Events Strain Hopes

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press

Events in Viet Nam put a severe strain on dogged American optimism about the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

Coups, reshuffles, jolts and shakeups cast heavy clouds on hope for the stability the government must have to withstand attack from a determined and implacable enemy which controls much of the country.

A wave of popular violence in South Viet Nam's cities has caused a government upheaval—the third in nine months. It is not readily classified as a coup—and in fact as of the moment it defies description. But it is trouble, and Maj. Nguyen Khanh has described the situation as extremely serious. As of Tuesday he apparently remained boss of a junta in a sort of caretaker government.

Not Wild About It

Khanh has professed to want generals and colonels to quit their offices and get into the war effort, leaving politics to him and civilians chosen to help him. The generals and colonels did not seem wild about the idea.

U.S. officials have said repeatedly that if the war is to be won, the South Vietnamese will have to do it. The implication is that if the regime lacks the stability to prosecute the war effectively, the investment of a half billion dollars a year and mounting American casualties will not be enough to turn the tide.

There has been little stability for the last year. The coup which brought death to President Ngo Dinh Diem reflected a yearning of some elements for something better than autocracy of the palace in a modern world. There was a degree of popular support for the anti-Diem coup.

Then there were hopes that the new man, Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, might get the people behind him and prosecute the war more energetically. Instead, Minh appeared to go in for politicking.

When Khanh overthrew Minh he spoke of officers intriguing with the French to bring about neutralization. Among a population weary of 10 years of cruel guerrilla war, sentiment arose among the middle class for some way out.

When Minh was shoved aside Jan. 30 in a bloodless maneuver by Khanh, some Americans on the scene gloomily saw it as the beginning of the end, reflecting South Viet Nam's inability to govern itself. Generals were jockeying and intriguing for power. Upheavals were inevitable. Coups would breed coups.

New Jolt

Now comes a new jolt, with elements which add to U.S worries. It comes in the wake of violence and outbreaks of anger with the Saigon regime. This is a windfall for Communists seeking to foment further confusion and to step up their guerrilla war while the nation is off balance.

Each convulsion has its impact. The bureaucratic administration which must run the country is shaken. Jobs are in jeopardy. People are fired or shuffled about. Administrative machinery creaks to a halt.

The shakeups must have a negative effect on morale in the armed forces. The men who should be leading them spend hours struggling among themselves for mastery.

The United States, committed to holding back the Communist threat to Southeast Asia, seems to have little choice but to accept each succeeding regime and hope each time the incoming men can govern.

But each upheaval works its attrition. And the current situation has inspired the French — proposing neutralization as a solution—to say "I told you so."

Their foreign minister said Tuesday: "The present situation reinforces the concept which France has always maintained, according to which it is necessary to go forward to a negotiated solution."

SOMETHING NEW SHOWS UP BENEATH

Several days ago, a big sign boosting Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater appeared above one of Atlantic City's piers. Wednesday a smaller banner showed up beneath it in the Democratic convention city.

BODIL'S SIGN . . . catches convention spirit.

America Just 'Fun Crazy' When It Comes To Politics

By JIM BECKER

Atlantic City (AP)—It is axiomatic that if a man from Mars were to drop in on an American political convention, he'd be quickly convinced that we are all nuts.

But what about a lady from Norway?

"I think it's crazy," said a lady from Norway, who is here as a friend of the family of a delegate from Arizona to the Democratic National Convention. "But fun crazy. Not nuts crazy."

Troublesome Accent

The lady is Bodil Bardsen of Tromsoe, Norway, who is 19, brown-haired, pretty and the owner of an accent that has got her into a bit of trouble among the Democrats.

"I tell everybody that I'm from Arizona," she said, "and they say, 'With that accent? You must be a Goldwater spy.'"

Which is an awful thing to say to a girl who is all paint-smudged from whipping up posters for President Johnson to be carried in spontaneous demonstrations.

'Not So Silly'

"I think the demonstrations are so exciting," she said. "And it's such fun to see all those dignified men pushing and yelling. I know everybody says they're silly because you know what is coming, but the idea is to influence other people with your enthusiasm. That's not so silly, is it?

"And after a while, the people in the demonstration get all excited, too. I know I do."

Bodil ran a paint-smeared hand over her red, white and blue striped uniform, with the big 'LBJ' sewed on the pocket.

"But I think everything is exciting. I think it's exciting to wear this uniform. And to go to the beach, and the cocktail parties. I have to keep pinching myself to make sure I'm really a part of all this excitement."

Pinching Room

Bodil, who is on the statuesque side and has plenty of pinching room, demonstrated her method for keeping in touch with reality.

"We don't have anything like this convention at home," she said.

"Of course," she added, "I don't know what's going on; most of the time nobody does.

"In the first place you can't hear anything so it's hard to pay attention, so pretty soon everybody is up and walking around and that makes it worse.

'For TV's Sake'

"I saw the Republican convention on television and I could follow it. So I think they must run these conventions for television."

Bodil was working as a guide in Norway last summer when she met the family of Jack Gilbert of Bisbee, Ariz.

Gilbert, who has a daughter about Bodil's age, invited Bodil to come to Arizona, and the University of Arizona chipped in with a scholarship.

Then Gilbert got elected a delegate, and he brought Bodil along with the rest of his family.

"There is one thing I don't understand," Bodil said.

"People stand outside and they beg for tickets to get in, and even buy tickets from other people, but when they get inside and sit down, in 30 minutes they get up and they are walking around outside again.

"I wonder why they do that?"

Hearing On Rights Appeal Rushed

Washington (AP) — An appeal questioning the constitutionality of the public accommodations sections of the new civil rights act will be heard on a rush basis by the Supreme Court Oct. 5, the tribunal decided Wednesday.

Court Clerk John F. Davis announced this and said the argument will concern only the Heart of Atlanta Motel Corp. The Pickrick Restaurant, also of Atlanta, was involved in preliminary steps in the case but will not be directly concerned in the hearing.

The court is now in summer adjournment and Oct. 5 is the first day of its new fall term. Ordinarily the justices do not hear arguments or carry on anything but routine business on that day.

Requests

Requests for a prompt hearing were filed by both the motel corporation and the Justice Department. The motel has agreed to file its printed appeal with the Supreme Court by Sept. 21. The Justice Department will file a reply brief by Sept. 28.

The hearing Oct. 5 will last at least two hours, with each side granted one hour.

The Heart of Atlanta Motel Corp. and the Pickrick Restaurant were principals in the decision by a special three-judge federal court in Atlanta which upheld the validity of the public accommodations section of the new civil rights law. The case was the first court ruling under the new law.

The section involved in this case forbids discrimination in places of public accommodation — primarily those offering food, lodging and entertainment to the public, except for smaller rooming houses. The constitutional question is whether the powers of Congress to regulate interstate commerce extend to this.

Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black on Aug. 10 refused to stay enforcement of the special court's order requiring admission of Negroes to the motel and restaurant.

Later, Pickrick operator Lester Maddox shut the restaurant's doors in the faces of Negroes and said they would remain shut for good.

Wisconsin, Kentucky Report New Violences

. . . Sharp Disagreement On Effects NFO Action

By JACK DONOVAN

Des Moines, Iowa (AP)—New disturbances broke out Wednesday in Wisconsin and Kentucky as farmers sought to sell their livestock in the face of a National Farmers Organization market boycott.

Wisconsin Gov. John W. Reynolds was asked to call out the national guard to help authorities disperse 400 pickets at a Chippewa Falls packing plant Wednesday. The governors of Minnesota and South Dakota received similar requests after incidents in their states Tuesday. No guardsmen have been mobilized.

Meanwhile, there was sharp disagreement Wednesday on the effects of the week-old NFO holding action in 23 states from the Rocky Mountains to the East Coast.

"There is mounting evidence the current livestock holding action of the National Farmers Organization is collapsing," the American Meat Institute said in a statement in Chicago.

"This is wishful thinking on the part of the meat institute," replied Oren Lee Staley, NFO national president. "We are prepared for a long action if that becomes necessary."

Market prices for cattle and hogs dropped as much as $1 a hundredweight Wednesday after a decline of up to $2 Tuesday. The increased number of livestock shipped to market the last two days and the subsequent falling prices have erased most of the gain made at the outset of the action.

In the five trading days since the action went into effect last Thursday, cattle receipts at the 12 major markets were 208,000, compared to 212,000 for the same period last week and 207,000 a year ago. Hog receipts from Thursday through Wednesday totaled 231,000, compared to 262,000 a week ago and 270,500 last year.

Staley said that farmers will see from the falling prices that unless they hold their livestock to force processors to guarantee higher prices they will be back to receiving prices paid before the holding action was called.

In Chippewa Falls, 11 persons were arrested after police wrestled a crowd of nearly 400 outside the Peters Packing Co. plant.

Police and firemen used high pressure hoses in an unsuccessful attempt to make an entryway for livestock trucks trying to unload at the plant.

Kentucky state police at Elizabethtown reported that two men were pulled from a truck near High Grove and beaten Wednesday. Neither man was hurt seriously.

The police also said a number of stock trucks bound for market were turned back on roads in a seven-county area south of Louisville, Ky.

Change In Flow Disservice, Says Cattlemen Head

Denver (AP)—The president of the American National Cattlemen's Association said Wednesday any change in the normal flow of livestock to market "from any cause or by any group" is a "disservice to the livestock and meat industry and to the consumer."

Brooks J. Keogh of Keene, N.D., issued the statement commenting on the withholding of livestock from market by members of the National Farmers Organization.

Keogh said the action may not reduce actual numbers of livestock slaughtered during the period, "but the psychological effect of diversion of animals to noncustomary channels of trade is quite unsettling to an already delicate market."

Heavy Receipts May Keep Meat Prices Down

Omaha (AP)—A predicted increase in retail meat prices resulting from the National Farmers Organization's livestock holding action may fail to materialize.

The market has seen heavy receipts of slaughter animals this week which are forcing live prices down. However some retail advances still could occur in line with live market price increases which occurred before the holding action took place.

The Omaha market reported receipts of 12,500 Wednesday, compared with 9,439 a week ago and 9,591 one year ago.

The hog receipts were 8,500 compared with 7,070 a week ago and 6,973 one year ago.

Early hog trading was reported 25 to 50 cents below Tuesday's prices and the cattle trade was reported slow.

Val Akerlund of Valley, in charge of NFO activities in the Omaha area, said the heavy receipts were due to "the work of our opposition" but did not name the opposition.

NU Station May Be Ready By Christmas

Concord—"Completion by Christmas" is the goal of workers engaged in construction of the headquarters building at the Northeast Nebraska Experiment Station two miles east of here.

The facility is unique in being the future hub of operations in northeast Nebraska for all off-campus services of the University of Nebraska: agricultural research, agricultural and Home Economics Extension, and off-campus and continuing education courses.

The upper floor of the buff brick, steel and masonry building will house area Extension workers serving northeast Nebraska. The lower floor will include a public room 40 by 30 feet in size, equipped with a demonstration kitchen and divided by folding doors. Visitors will enter the building through a 20 by 30 foot lobby and "chat" room. Also on the first floor will be offices, laboratories and work rooms for research scientists. A clerical staff will be officed with both Extension and research personnel.

The building is located on a hill at the southwest corner of the station. An inviting view of the upper floor welcomes the visitor at the Experiment Station as he tops the hill, approaching from the west. Several large windows afford an unusual panorama of the station's research facilities and cropland to the north and east. Extensive plantings of trees, shrubs, flowers and lawn are planned to surround the headquarters structure.

The building is made possible, in part, by a grant to the University of Nebraska Foundation by the Northeast Nebraska Experiment Farm Association and C. D. Haskell of Laurel.

Research is conducted by the experiment station on 320 acres of farm land given to the University by Haskell, along with an additional 160 acres of leased land.

Staff of Six

At present, a staff of six area Extension agents are occupying temporary quarters in Wayne, awaiting completion of the headquarters.

Dr. Denzil O. Clegg holds the joint responsibility of area Extension supervisor and experiment station superintendent. Area Extension agents are Don J. Kubik, dairy; Myrtle Anderson, home furnishings and housing; Hugo Zimmerman, farm management; Mary Joan Doyle, foods and health education; and Anna Marie Kreifels, clothing and home management; while Ulverd U. Alexander works in both Extension and research, specializing in soils. Walter Tolman is in charge of beef research at the experiment station.

'Poverty' Designation Irks Knox Co. Official

Center (AP) — The Knox County welfare director took issue Wednesday with designation of the county as a poverty area.

"We are not a second Appalachia," declared J. F. Dobry.

Dobry's comments were prompted by a "poverty index" chart prepared by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Knox County was accorded the highest "poverty" rating among the states' 93 counties.

Dobry agreed that the per capita income in Knox County is not up to the national average but added: "We are an agricultural community and do not expect to compete with industrial areas."

He said statistics on income are misleading, and cited a four-block area in a Knox County town as an example. There are 32 households and 82 individuals in the area making a total of $79,800 yearly.

The average household income is $2,496. However, 11 of the households are those of retired farmers living on their resources and having no income. Thus the 21 household in the laboring class average $3,800 annually each. That is far from the $2,500 annual income which the USDA uses to define the beginning of the poverty level, Dobry said.

"People in Knox County enjoy good health and good living despite the fact their income is below the national average," he said. "They do this because of their frugality."

76-Year-Old Still Teaches Swim Classes

By ED MASON
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Seward — Children and adults are still learning to swim under the direction of Mayor William A. Dowding, 76, swim teacher since 1919.

"I began to teach youngsters to swim when Seward's pool was built in 1919, and I became a Red Cross Water Safety Instructor (WSI) in 1925," Dowding said.

Before 1925, the people who became WSI's were affiliated with the YMCA and were called the Life Saving Corps.

Dowding, mayor since 1958, said, "Seward has one of the few round swimming pools in Nebraska. It was designed by John Martz, a design engineer, in 1919 to allow children to learn to swim at the pool's edge. As the children became more adept, they could swim toward the deep center of the pool.

Dowding has three sons who are WSI's, one of whom, William T. Dowding, is water safety chairman of the Seward County chapter.

National Soil Group Honors Everett Barr

Jackson, Miss.—Everett Barr, Liberty, Neb., received posthumously an honorary degree in the Soil Conservation Society of America. Presentation of this significant honor was made by Society President, Herbert A. Hopper, Lafayette, California, during the closing session of the soil conservation organization's three-day meeting.

Also honored were David E. Hutchinson of Lincoln, Nebraska soil conservationist, with a degree of fellow in the society, and Raymond C. Kubie, also of Lincoln with a commendation certificate for his work in the Lincoln chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America. Kubie is assistant area conservationist for the Lincoln area of the SCS.

Al Wayne Warner of Harrisburg, Neb., chairman of the research committee for the State Soil and Water Commission, also was awarded a commendation certificate.

Building A Platform

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

ATLANTIC CITY—The curious, those with a cause and the cranks—all of them are a part of every national convention and the Democratic Party conclave in Atlantic City is no exception. There are, of course, the demonstrators in behalf of seating the Mississippi Freedom Party delegation and this is an effort typical of the civil rights movement of the day.

It involves the many people parading or just standing at or near the entrance of the convention hall, carrying signs and banners proclaiming their cause. Inside the hall, their battle is waged before the credentials committee and before the delegates. But at this writing, the cause appeared to be a losing one, an eventuality that may lack some justice but which was expected. The issue still could be an explosive one, if not at the convention, then during the campaign that is to follow, but the regular Mississippi delegation could not have been routinely ousted in favor of the Freedom Party without a substantial upset of established order and precedence.

An Expected Outcome

However, the effort of the Freedom Party is not without effect. It has demonstrated the reality and absolute certainty of full civil rights, especially the right to vote. It is the denial of this right that formed the basis of the Freedom Party movement and which threatens the Democratic Party today in many parts of the South.

The curious and the cranks who swell the crowd in front of Convention Hall serve no purpose in the run of human history. The curious are understandable—they want a glimpse of the drama that is unfolding almost before their eyes and a look at the famous names who enter and leave the big hall.

The cranks who frequent the surroundings of the hall are the curious to those inside. Many of them are religious fanatics of some kind or other, or at least it would seem so, judging from the banners they carry and the literature they attempt to pass out. One would think that the total lack of response with which they are met by those who pass by would ultimately discourage them but they seem to have grown accustomed to the futility that is part of their effort. One wonders beyond this how so many of these people manage to be in attendance at a national convention, who it is behind them and how they came to be what they are. There may be more sanity in the country than insanity but the latter certainly asserts itself in a variety of ways from time to time.

Competition for the attention of the passing parade is almost beyond imagination here at Atlantic City. How could the message of a crank get through when you consider a total of some four million words will flow out of this city during the week of this Democratic gathering? Press releases by the thousands are piled high on tables located at several places in the convention hall. Additionally, all those with any connection, at all, with this political gathering are deluged with materials from a wide variety of sources, all seeking to promote some objective.

It would take more than a lifetime to read all the literature distributed at a national convention. All we can do is concentrate on the more important happenings and this, in the end, is just as well for much of the rest is of little real significance, anyway.

On the important side was the keynote address delivered to the convention by Senator John O. Pastore of Rhode Island. Pastore is exactly what a keynoter should be — a good orator and not averse to a little stretching of the imagination. But while he took the liberty of editorializing in his address, Pastore outlined well the line of attack that will be used by the Democrats in the months ahead.

This attack will bear heavily upon the achievements of the past four years as the Democrats see them. But the attack will also make a considerable issue out of the misunderstanding that has surrounded much of what has been said by the GOP nominee, Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona. It is clear that the Democrats see the senator as a menace to the nation and they will attempt to convince the general public of this same thing. They will seek to implant in the minds of the American people a fear of the future that would be theirs under an administration headed by Goldwater.

The Plan Of Attack

Extremism is to be denounced in the Democratic platform and the Arizona senator will not have to remind the voters of the country where he stands on that subject. In this, the Democrats see the biggest single issue outside of the record they have created in four years and on which they intend to run.

"Thanks A Lot, But I'm All Tuckered Out"

Ticket Manager Fired By LBJ

ATLANTIC CITY—The fact that President Johnson telephoned Atlantic City shortly before the convention opened and fired Leonard Reinsch, longtime convention manager, illustrates an important point regarding the direction of the coming campaign.

Immediate reason for firing Reinsch was that his snail's pace handling of convention tickets made it likely there would be huge blocks of vacant seats showing up in TV in the convention hall. Meanwhile people were clamoring for tickets to the point that they were going to Atlantic City's Republican Boss Hap Farley to get them. Even Big Jim Farley, grand old man of the Democratic party, was looking for a ticket.

Reinsch has been dominating Democratic conventions for almost twenty years and many Democrats have felt he should have been fired long ago. This time he was blamed, rightly or wrongly, for the initial failure to invite former President Harry Truman to speak at the convention, an oversight which got Johnson boiling mad.

Replacing Reinsch, the president appointed his old Texas friend, Marvin Watson, head of the Lone Star Steel Company, a Texas conservative and an efficient one who is devoted to LBJ.

All this illustrates the fact that the President has been trying to operate with a combination of the old Kennedy political machine, his own political friends and some of the career members of the Democratic National Committee. They don't always mesh.

The result has been that LBJ himself has tremendous prestige in the nation, as indicated by the polls, yet some of his best friends are worried about lack of political organization.

There are also those killjoys like Dave McDonald, handsome president of the United Steelworkers, who have been predicting at Atlantic City that Goldwater was going to win. Says Dave in brief: The Johnson administration has been kicking too many white postmasters out to make way for Negro postmasters. The Democrats are too complacent. Labor has forgotten what the Democrats have done for them in the past.

However, there is one skill Lyndon Johnson has perfected better than any other—politics. And after tonight when he becomes the official candidate of the Democratic party, it's predicted he'll take over the party reins vigorously and officially.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: Do you believe in skin tests for an allergy? What is the difference, if any, between an allergy affecting eyes, nose, and sinus? I feel better when I'm outdoors.—A.L.

Dr. Molner

Yes, I certainly believe in skin tests but I'd be wrong if I said that you can run a series of them and have all the answers.

"Allergy" is another way of saying that a person is hypersensitive to something he eats, smells, touches or breathes.

Skin tests are very helpful but even a substantial series can cover only several dozen or several score of the common offenders. It takes time to test for several hundred. Yet the total number of substances which can (in some people) cause allergy certainly runs into thousands and perhaps more.

Skin tests can identify (or eliminate) the things known to affect a lot of people. But beyond that, you must rely on observation (or "detective work"), your allergist's trained instincts, logical process of elimination, and—yes—luck.

Roughly speaking, allergy follows patterns. Pollens and other things we breath cause "hay fever," meaning symptoms of nose and eyes. Things we touch tend to cause skin irritation at the point of contact. Food allergies upset the digestive tract, but can cause swelling of lips or throat, or a rash to appear on the skin anywhere.

Something in the air can affect the eyes and not the nose, or vice versa. Food allergy can cause wheezing. Allergy obviously is very complicated, and far from wholly understood.

As to being better outdoors—well, some people are and some aren't, but this narrows the field. What bothers you indoors? Dust, pets (including birds), chemicals, soap powders, cosmetics, flour dust, perfumes, feather dust from pillows, wool (or other fabrics), plants, flowers, dyes—it's a long, long list.

You must add this fact: The person with allergies is not necessarily sensitive to just one thing. Indeed, it is usual to find that he is sensitive to several, and perhaps to many. The degree of sensitivity varies from person to person, too.

You may be sensitive to things outdoors, too, yet not encounter them in the same concentration, or the same combination.

So with allergy, employ all means of detecting the things to which you are sensitive. Do what you can to avoid the major ones, or to have desensitization treatment. You may not achieve total and complete relief, but if you can solve even part of the problem, you will have fewer attacks and less severe ones.

With allergy, you have to suspect EVERYTHING. Fortunately, some substances are much more likely to cause trouble, and that is why skin sensitivity tests are so useful.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes canker sores? My doctor says it's a virus. Is this a warning of cancer, since it starts from a virus, too?—R. K.

A recurrent virus is the most frequent cause of canker sores, although allergies can be involved, too.

Let's get this "warning of cancer" out of your mind, though.

First, it is suspected that viruses MAY have something to do with cancer, but this has not been proved.

Second, remember that colds, flu, smallpox, measles, chickenpox and other diseases are caused by virus, but they aren't "warnings of cancer."

Dear Dr. Molner: I am trying to recall if I read in your column once that taking one of the B vitamins regularly will repel mosquitoes.—Mrs.. C. J. J.

I have mentioned that thiamin chloride, which is one of the B group, causes an odor that repels mosquitoes. This vitamin contains a sulfur radical which probably is the source of the odor I have also had readers say it does not work for them. There's no harm in trying, however. (Insect repellants applied to the skin are effective, of course.)

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there a difference between certain brands of aspirin? Is it all right for a person with arthritis to take six or eight tablets a day if there are no after-effects?—MRS. N. N.

Aspirin is aspirin, regardless of brand. Aspirin is a specific chemical: Acetylsalicylic acid. Six or eight tablets a day for arthiritis is not an unusual dosage, so I wouldn't worry.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: Do you think exercise is necessary along with a reducing diet, or is it a lot of work for nothing?—M.A.M.

Any exercise at all expends some calories, according to how much effort you put into it. Therefore exercise can be of importance in reducing.

Quite aside from that, exercise is essential to tone up the muscles and the body generally. I would not, frankly, expect anyone to achieve much in the way of weight reduction without at least moderate exercise.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

A Good War Story

There are not many pretty stories connected with World War II.

But one turned up recently in Paris when an elderly man, still showing the military bearing, took the elevator to the top of the Eiffel tower. Once out on the high platform he looked long and admiringly at the view of the great French city.

It was the first time he had seen it in 20 years for he was Detrick von Cholitz who now lives in retirement at Baden Baden, Germany.

General Cholitz was named military governor of Paris after France fell before Nazi might. It was his city until the motorized units and tanks of American Lt. General L. T. Gerow entered the city and liberated it. Then General Cholitz surrendered.

The general surrendered with a task undone. He had been ordered by Hitler to wreck the bridges and lay waste to the town before the Americans arrived. He delayed until he heard the approach of the Americans. Then it was too late.

The other day he explained, "This city is much too beautiful to destroy."

So Paris continues as it was, thanks to General Cholitz.

When the aging general was recognized Paris extended its hospitality to him. It made available his wartime quarters in the Hotel Maurice. He was wined and dined, met former acquaintances and generally had an enjoyable time. He returned to Germany reassured in the conviction that he had done right in his long ago act of disobedience.

Quoddy Still Trying

The Passamaquoddy public power project is not only this country's most unusual one, but also the most difficult to get off the ground.

It was first proposed during the depressed '30's and was last passed by by the current Congress. But it will be back next term with a modified set of specifications.

The project takes its name from Passamaquoddy Bay in Maine, where the ocean tides run high and swiftly. The essence of the scheme is to make use of the tidal run for the generation of electric power. It would require man-made alterations which would use the tide to fill a great reservoir daily. The tide's recession would provide the water head.

The disadvantage of the plan is its huge initial cost, a figure set at $1 billion before the last Congress, but now being scaled down to something around $800 million for the next try. The new scheme is not so grandiose.

Opponents have found a series of reasons for not building it and are now calling the plan outdated because of the prospects of nuclear power. They note that the world's largest A-plant is being planned near Toronto, Canada, at a cost of $266 million, a little less than one third the cost of Passamaquoddy. But what they don't say is that A-power is still high cost power whereas Passamaquoddy which relies on ocean tides would operate for a good deal less than that and for an infinite period of time. The technological advances in the past 30 years remove doubts that the project could be successfully constructed.

So probably the main weakness of Passamaquoddy is that it is "old hat" and has been before Congress so many times unsuccessfully that it is easy to defeat.

It has become something that either should be done or forgotten.

Bolivia Advancing

To many Americans Bolivia is an odd little Latin American country where the people look like Indians and the women all wear derby hats and dresses much too large.

But it is one country that has pushed revolutionary reforms to the social limit, and with the help of foreign aid from the U.S., West Germany and the World Bank is now making advances in the field of economics.

Its president is Paz Estenssoro and its policy was to stick closely to its own business and not join the Organization of American States in sanctions against Cuba. But the prospect of continued foreign aid and of better days ahead were sufficient to offset an emotional attitude and the Bolivians have joined up against Cuba.

Bolivia itself went through a revolution in 1952. It has done some socialistic things but has remained politically on the side of the West. It granted citizenship to its impoverished Indian masses and liberated them from serfdom. It nationalized Bolivia's tin mines and broke up its land monopoly. There is a feeling that such actions were less political than necessary drastic actions needed to get the show on the road.

People are living somewhat better in Bolivia than formerly but the country is still not self supporting. It is the world's second largest producer of tin and with modern and efficient methods for extracting it budget balancing is in sight.

That is the story of Bolivia at this juncture—farther along in modernizing its society than ever before but not yet over the hill economically. But if it holds to its present course it will make it although full prosperity is a function of the advancement of its people who are still a generation or so away from it. Nevertheless it is a country we can well afford to help and we wish it well in its valiant efforts.

Photo Gal Says Four Legged Animals Better Than People

NEW YORK—A true dog lover (male) will spend more money on his pet than on his wife.

A true cat lover (female) will worry infinitely more about a feline than about a fella.

There are also in America, though their numbers are fewer, true cat lovers, goat lovers, bird, snake and turtle lovers who are willing to put their money where their amour is.

And that is why Liz Rice, formerly of the advertising profession, quit her job and took up animal portrait photography.

"It has been most rewarding," she says. "After working with two-legged animals for many years, working with the four-legged is a real joy."

Miss Rice was reaching the retirement age for Madison Avenuites last year, when she made her decision to turn her hobby of animal photography into a profitable business. "I decided to go out to pasture—literally," she explains, "before I was put out to pasture—figuratively."

☆ ☆ ☆

Her decision was triggered one day when she saw ("One should never be flabbergasted in New York!") two well-dressed young men walking down an East Side street. In the hands of one was a red ribbon which connected, at sidewalk level, with a turtle.

That did it. If a man was willing to spend the TIME it takes to walk a turtle—think of the MONEY he'd spend.

Miss Rice's assumption was verified. Charging a basic "sitting fee" of $25, with varying rates for prints of pets, she has discovered that in two or three jobs a week, she can equal her salary as a full-time career woman, and the job is not as dangerous as the precarious life of an advertising lady . . .

"Even when I'm photographing bulls," she claims, "I am not the least bit nervous. Not that bulls can't be tricky—particularly the kind, good-natured, sleepy-looking Ferdinands. But the thing is to stay calm. Don't let them think you're scared. And keep a fence between you."

The pleasant-faced, gray-haired proprietress of "Informal Portraits Of Animals By Liz" says that in the few months since she opened shop, word-of-mouth has given her plenty of business. She visits the home of her subjects: "Animals are like children. They are easier to photograph in their own environment."

She has captured almost every type of domestic animal on film—has arty shots of show dogs, goats, dogs, Holstein calves kissing tabby cats. Her most difficult assignment has been trying to capture a 30-year-old turtle. "Turtles are tough. Until they know you, all they'll stick out of their shell is the nose. I've made several visits; we're gradually becoming friends."

☆ ☆ ☆

Miss Rice has some tips to home photographers who would like to get good portrait shots of their pets or animal acquaintances:

"Never use a flash bulb, or the animal may be chronically camera shy.

Use black and white film. Colors seldom are true, except when you have absolutely controlled light in a studio.

Up From The Ranks

Columbus, Neb.

I read Mr. Rosenberg's recent letter about the Morrisons and I agreed, in part. Mrs. Morrison is lovely and charming. Mr. Morrison does walk and handshake among all people. It is a fine gesture.

But are we running a beauty contest? Are we developing a charm school in Nebraska? Do we want a ribbon-cuting, handshaking governor who walks among the people but builds political bridges at national Democratic conventions and visits to Washington, D.C., one whose knowledge of what to do apparently comes from federal top brass?

Just as a house without a firm foundation cannot stand, so any leader must learn the ABC's of good government by working with law-makers, by "coming up from the ranks."

Twenty years in the State Legislature, learning, helping, understanding constituents, give Dwight Burney the proper background to build Nebraska.

Let's change horses before the stream gets too deep and wide.

'Friendship' Sham

Palmer, Neb.

The August 21 letter from "M. J." entitled "Behind The Scenes" was informative, inasmuch as it explained the reasons for the present of champagne in the Soviet Union, the three lines in shops, etc. It also pointed up the reason for communist success in many countries, since lies, treachery and perversion of truth have been and will continue to be their "stock in trade" as long as they are communists and bent on world rule.

J. Edgar Hoover has aptly called them "Masters of Deceit" and it is articles like this which will help to open our eyes to the reality of their determination and the sham of their "friendship" with any free country.

My thanks for printing the article by "M. J."

Lincoln, Neb.

The Star's box-letter headline of Saturday morning, August 22, Page 1, was, in my opinion, misleading and inappropriate. As a native southerner, I resent any implication that Governor Wallace of Alabama speaks for the South or any large segment of the South.

One Side Or Other

Ames, Neb.

We, the American farmers, are at one of the most important crossroads in history. In the next few weeks, it will be up to each and every farmer to decide which side of the economic war he is on. Either he is on the side of big business or he is on the side of his friends and neighbors. Each farmer must decide for himself if he is willing to continue to let others run his business and tell him what he is to receive for his production.

I do not believe that any one of our neighbors can sell us out for a few pieces of silver and do so with a clear conscience. Almost every farmer in a 23-state area has been visited within the past two weeks and asked if he will help his neighbors and friends in the battle that is now starting, and more contacts will be made.

The Truth

Lincoln, Neb.

Never before in history has there been more need for people to have access to true facts and information. The news racks are loaded with magazines and newspapers. But that doesn't do much good. Many are distortion of truth, and are propaganda.

Today we have much restriction on travel to other countries. None of the other nations we like to identify ourselves with as free world nations have such restrictions. Slowly and insiduously the cold war has been eroding away our will to insist on our rights. Consider the political atmosphere today and then in Roosevelt's time. In Germany before Hitler, there were many for peace and progress, but they were politically illiterate and poorly organized. They were not strong enough to cope with the reactionary forces.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Ghosts Of Bygone Medicine Shows Still Around

By ROBERT PETERSON

Doctors are quick to shout "quack" when purveyors of youth formulas appear on the scene. One thus wonders what they're saying about John E. Eichenlaub, M.D., author of a new book on home tonics which is being widely promoted these days via second class mail ads and brochures which state:

"Incredible But True. A leading doctor releases conclusive evidence that you can win back 10, 20—even up to 30 years of new youth almost overnight! To do this you have merely to stop the drying-out tendency of the cells of your body.

"Now Dr. John E. Eichenlaub, after 20 years of research has proved that the normal way . . . to get the cellular lubrication you need is to use certain tonics . . . when you use these magic tonics you experience what doctors call the 'tonic response' — a state of mind and body so spectacular that it actually enables you to fight off the diseases of middle and old age, keep your heart, digestion and all vital organs in perfect working order . . . until you are 90 or over."

It's obvious from this pitchman's prose that ghosts of bygone medicine shows are still around playing on the wistful wishes of desperate souls eager to turn back the clock and recapture youth.

As everyone should know by now, aging is a normal phenomenon which cannot be halted by tonics or anything else. If we cultivate sound attitudes toward age and follow basic health rules we'll have no need to seek non-existent fountains of youth.

☆ ☆ ☆

The other evening I saw Van Johnson on the strawhat circuit in "A Thousand Clowns." When I talked with him afterwards I asked if age bothered him.

"Not a bit,' he said firmly as he sat at his dressing table wiping makeup off his freckled face. "I'm 48 and proud of it."

Does he go along with the life-begins-at-40 philosophy? "I think it begins when you become aware what a precious thing life really is. When things come too easy you dont always have this awareness. I was lucky with my career—hit it big way back in my 20's. But it wasn't until a year or so ago when I found I had cancer that I began to get a new and clearer perspective.

"The surgery is behind me now and it looks as if they got it in time. So I feel sort of re-born. All that went on in younger years is just a pleasant, hazy memory. Now my real life seems underway at last—a new era that has me throbbing with an appreciation of what it really means to be alive."

Shakespeare never used the term "senior cititzen." But his plays included many characters in advanced years and many verses of geriatric description and observation, including these lines from "As You Like It":

"Though I look old, yet am I strong and lusty,
For in my youth I never did apply
Hot and rebellious liquors to my stomach,
Nor with unblushing forehead seek to woo
The means of weakness and debility;
Therefore my age is like a lusty Winter,
Frosty, but kindly."

NU Co-Ed Will Work On Program Against Smoking

A University of Nebraska co-ed has been appointed to coordinate the state's anti-smoking program aimed at discouraging teenage puffing.

She is Sally Wilson of Lincoln, the State Health Department reported.

Miss Wilson will work with a special three-member state health board committee in studying all legal possibilities to discourage young people from starting to smoke. The program will largely center on the principle that smoking is a serious hazard to health.

Dr. George Pickett of the U.S. Public Health Service had been heading the program, but he was transferred from his Nebraska assignment earlier this summer.

Members of the health board committee are Dr. A. R. Sofio of Omaha, Dr. Louis W. Gilbert of Lincoln and Charles F. Fowler of Lincoln.

Strike Could Result

Chicago (UPI) — A railroad union official said a nationwide strike by 140,000 members of six shop craft organizations could result if the nation's carriers refuse to bargain further over contract changes.

Michael Fox, president of the Railway Employes' Department on the national railway dispute, said the carriers have refused to accept recommendations made by a presidential emergency fact finding board.

Fox said his union met with representatives of the carriers Wednesday "but the carriers refused to sit down with us."

J. E. Wolfe, chief railroad bargainer, said it was the unions who broke up negotiations.

"They (the unions) would not discuss anything other than their own proposal. Their proposal goes far beyond the report of emergency board . . . and in some respects goes beyond their original demand," Wolfe said.

He said Francis O'Neill, a member of the National Mediation Board, would be in Chicago Monday "to discuss further procedures with the parties . . . And we sincerely hope with his assistance a settlement will be reached."

The report was issued Aug. 7. Since then both the unions and the nation's railroads have studied the recommendations and exchanged drafts as to their understanding of the report. Fox said.

Fox said he was not threatening the carriers with a strike, but said one was possible at midnight Sept. 6—one month from the date the emergency report was issued.

He said the shop craft organizations haven't had a strike in 42 years "and we don't want one now."

He said the emergency board's report "offers us some relief. It hasn't gone as far as we would have liked—but I think we could live with it."

'64 Savings Bond Sales Down 7.6%

According to state savings bond director N. R. Phillips of Omaha the sale of "E" and "H" Bonds in Nebraska in July came to $5,336,622, with an accumulation of bond sales from January to August, 1964, of $48,138,178, a drop off of 7.6% under the same period last year.

Phillips went on to say that this means that there will be 40.4% of Nebraska's 1964 bond sales quota to be made during the last five months of the year which will call for an accelerated bond sales effort during this period by everyone connected with the program.

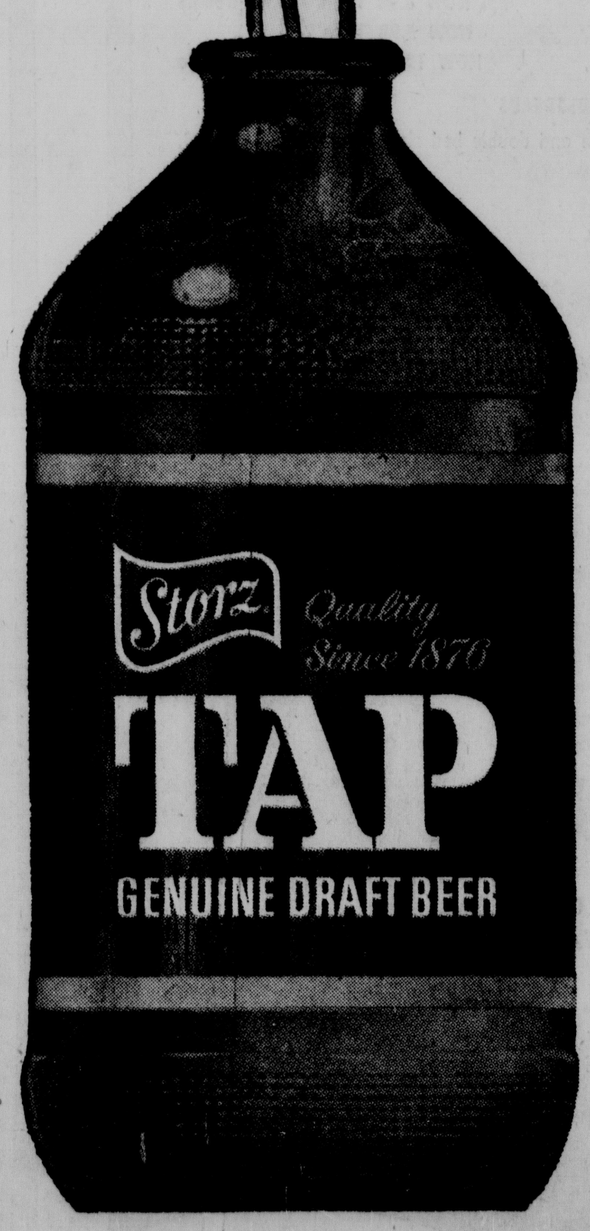
Now! Try real tap beer in "little brown kegs"

The fresh, live taste of good tap beer! That's what every beer drinker likes. And that's just what you get in new Storz TAP. Real draft beer—in bottles!

It wasn't easy to capture fresh flavor that stays fresh inside the bottle. We've spent two years and thousands of dollars perfecting the special new process that brings you this very special new kind of Storz beer. But never mind how we did it, we've done it—and how!

When you pop the cap off the top of a TAP . . . when you taste the freshest beer that's ever come out of a bottle, you'll know that now, more than ever, there's more in Storz for you! Look for new Storz TAP now at your favorite store or tavern.



Every glass is as good as the last and the last is as good as the first

State Study Finds K-12 School Costs Run Less

The cost of educating a child is much higher in Class VI high school districts and their satellite Class I districts than in comprehensive K-12 districts of similar size, State Education Commissioner Floyd A. Miller said Wednesday.

A recent study by Dr. W. A. Schindler of Miller's staff, covering the 1962-63 school year, showed a per pupil cost as much as $295 higher in one Class VI county high school district than in a K-12 comprehensive district with the same number of pupils.

Miller said the study "supports in a solid dollar and cents way" the position long held by the State Board of Education, that the comprehensive K-12 school district should provide the pattern for reorganization in Nebraska.

A K-12 school district is one offering education from kindergarten through high school. A Class VI district is a high school district superimposed on several grade school (Class I) districts.

Dr. Miller suggested that the educational advantages of the K-12 district are even more significant, although harder to prove.

He said his department hopes that the study will stimulate new interest on the part of Nebraska taxpayers as they study school problems and ways of getting the highest return on the tax dollars they invest in education each year.

Commonwealth Is Apparent Low On Signal Light Bid

An apparent low bid of $26,317 for installation of new traffic signals on 9th and 10th at O and P was submitted by Commonwealth Electric Co., city officials said Wednesday.

The only other bidder was ABC Electric Co. at $31,540.

H. R. Bookstrom Construction Co. was apparent low at $24,162 for a storm sewer near 55th and Vine compared with Chambers Construction Co., $24,646; N. L. Cole Construction Co., $25,005; and Dobson Bros. Construction Co., $25,112.

On a water district near 7th and Highland, Cole was low at $8,915 compared with Bookstrom, $9,035; Chambers, $9,164; and Dobson Bros., $9,490.

Freedom Group Names Three To Speakers Bureau

Three Lincolnites have been appointed to serve on the speakers bureau of the Foundation for Freedom and Democracy in Community Life, Inc., to speak before church and civic groups on techniques to eliminate the practices of residential segregation.

They are Richard E. Booker, the Rev. A. C. Rueter and the Rev. Carroll H. Lemon.

Mrs. William Burns, also of Lincoln, is a foundation trustee and member of the advisory council.

State Fair Boss Loses His Little Scooter, Briefly

State Fair manager Edwin Schultz was scooter-less briefly Wednesday when a youngster wearing a red sweatshirt zipped off on Ed's pride and joy—a battery-powered three-wheeled scooter.

County deputies started a search of the Fairgrounds on the theory that the thief could not get far on the vehicle. Top speed on the scooter is about 12 miles an hour.

The scooter didn't go far. It was found at the open air pavilion in back of the administration building. The culprit got farther. He was not apprehended.

Socialist Wobbly Finally Attains American Citizenship

Chicago (AP) — Frederick W. Thompson, who first tried to become a U.S. citizen in 1939, finally made it.

Thompson, 64, now, stood erect and repeated the oath. He seemed calm and pleased but showed no strong emotion.

He told newsmen he still is a member of the Industrial Workers of the World (IWW), a left-wing labor organization whose adherents are known as Wobblies. The group attracted wide attention in the 1920s and 1930s.

Thompson volunteered that he belongs to the Socialist Party as well as the IWW. He said he sees no conflict between such membership and citizenship.

Entered In 1922

Thompson, a native of Saint John, New Brunswick, Canada, entered the U.S. in 1922 at Blaine, Wash. He was a drifting construction worker then. He now works for a Chicago chemical concern.

He told newsmen he talked to a federal judge who was visiting Eagle River, Wis., in 1939 about the citizenship procedure. He was told, he said, that he would have to compile a list of previous places of residence.

Thompson made application for citizenship in 1946. He was turned down in succession by the Immigration and Naturalization Service in 1961, the U.S. District Court in 1962 and the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals in 1963.

Then, reversing the process this year, the appeals court ordered citizenship for Thompson under a mandate from the U.S. Supreme Court.

Not Enough

The ruling stated in effect that Thompson's membership in the IWW was not enough to bar naturalization.

After taking his oath as a citizen, Thompson said, "I feel part of the community represented by the U.S. government."

That was what he wanted 25 years ago.

Commission Defers 'F' Zoning Request

. . . FOR 13TH & H CORNER

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday deferred action on requested "F" restricted commercial zoning for a four-story office building at the southwest corner of 13th and H.

The commission voted 3-2 to recommend denial, but four affirmative votes is required for action, and the application was deferred to the Sept. 9 meeting.

Atty. Norman Krivosha, representing Selmer Sohleim, said the proposed zoning was logical on the basis of similar zoning farther south on 13th.

"It will not extend retail and service uses into a residential area, but will permit a four-story office building," he said.

Brogden Against

Planning Director Douglas Brogden recommended against the re-zoning, explaining that the erratic zoning to the south recognized uses established 25 or 30 years ago and the proposed zoning was not a logical extension.

Solheim had previously sought "J" business district zoning for the site, but this was denied by the commission and City Council.

The commission approved "I" commercial zoning for the site of a constructed self-service car wash on 48th between Colby and Garland and also instructed that procedure be initiated for rezoning the block's entire frontage from "G" local business.

Also approved was a special permit to Crawford Pierce, a co-owner of the Homestead Nursing Home at 52nd and LaSalle, to construct a 50-bed addition. The commission said the nine-acre site is ample for the addition and parking.

Southwood Addition on So. 27th, south of U.S. 2 was approved by the commission after departmental reports that the 110-foot radius curves and turn-arounds were satisfactory to the fire department.

Other Moves

However, Chief Roscoe Benton said while the 110-foot radius curves would "cause no particular difficulty" in the Peterson Construction Co.'s proposed residential development, this should not be the minimum radius established as a city-wide policy.

Other commission recommendations were:

—approval of "A-1" single family zoning for an 80-acre tract northwest of 70th and South as requested by Joseph R. Hampton.

—approval of Lincolnshires Estate's preliminary plat for the Hampton tract, subject to utility requirements.

—approval of "G" local business zoning for property on the northeast corner of 9th and Belmont, continguous to a larger area previously approved for a shopping center.

—approval of a 22-foot front yard set back on Weaver's Lane.

—vacation of a lot on Highland Ave. west of 14th and for portions of Nance and Belmont between 9th and 11th.

—approval of preliminary plats of Hayes Acres near 73rd and Holdrege.

—deferral of Antelope Creek First Addition near 44th and Antelope Creek Road pending required reports on streets.

All commission members were present except F. Pace Woods, Roy Green, Stanley Sands and Chairman E. J. Faulkner. Chet Dobbs was acting chairman.

York Hospital Escapee Sought

York (UPI) — An intensive area search was under way for Dean Gary Slack, 25, who escaped from York General Hospital Sunday night while under arrest on a burglary charge.

Mrs. Slack was believed to have fled with her husband.

Slack is charged with burglarizing a Friend, Neb., service station. He reportedly plunged through the station's plate-glass door and sustained severe lacerations of the head before eluding Friend police officers.

He was later found in his apartment, weakened from loss of blood, and was taken to the hospital by a rescue unit.

"As weak as he was Saturday I still can't see how he could get very far without medical aid," Saline County Sheriff John Tesar said. "He had to have help to leave the hospital and York."

FOUR YOUTHS PAY $.30, RIDE FOR 14½ HOURS

Portland, Ore. (AP)—A bus fare costs 30 cents in Portland and four youths paid that price Monday to ride 273 miles.

The four, all in their upper teens, boarded a Rose City Transit Co. bus at 8 a.m. and rode for 14½ hours.

Bruce Tracewell, Corvallis, said "I guess we made 70 transfers without being caught." He said the trip took a month to plan.

"If you've never seen Portland, this is the cheapest tour I can recommend." Tracewell said.

The youths said the trip was a protest against physical fitness programs, but admitted "it was just an excuse to have a little fun, watch a lot of people and see a lot of Portland before going back to school."

Simon Gives Opinions On 'NE Hospital'

Hospital trustees and administrators, not the Lincoln Hospital Council, decide the location of their hospital, Robert Simon, Lincoln Hospital Council president, said.

The Northeast Community Council earlier asked the help of the Hospital Council in seeking a more northeasterly location than 70th & O for a new St. Elizabeth Hospital, or the building of a fifth hospital in their area.

Simon said in a letter to the Northeast Council, "It is my personal opinion that Lincoln has too many rather than to few hospitals. One 600 bed hospital is much more efficient than two 300 bed hospitals."

Bryan, St. Elizabeth and Lincoln General Hospitals each have under 300 beds and will continue to have in the projected plans reaching into the 1970s.

"The worst thing Lincoln could do is to overbuild. Medical technology is advancing so rapidly that it is almost impossible for modern hospitals to economically keep up with the new scientific equipment necessary," Simon said.

Luigi Longo Elected To Succeed Italy's Communist Leader Togliatti

Rome (UPI)—The hierarchy of the Italian Communist Party Wednesday elected Luigi Longo to succeed Palmiro Togliatti, late party chief.

Longo, 64, had been vice-secretary of the party and Togliatti's righthand man.

His election by the central and control commissions of the party followed Togliatti's burial by one day. It raised Longo to the leadership of the largest Communist Party in the West.

In a speech of acceptance, Longo said he would strive to carry out Togliatti's programs, including plans to decentralize the party organization and to compare positions and opinions of the rank and file.

Longo, the son of a farmer, rose to partisan general in the World War II resistance movement. He is known as a disciplinarian who obeyed Togliatti's orders for years. He has shown himself adaptable to the Moscow line of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Togliatti's death had been expected to touch off a power struggle for leadership. But the younger, ambitious men in the top ranks of the party apparently decided any delay or conflict in choosing a successor would threaten party unity.

Togliatti led the party for 38 years.

Immigrants Admitted

Ottawa (AP) — Canada admitted 51,323 immigrants during the first half of 1964, compared with 41,444 in the same period of 1963, the immigration department announced. Britain was the biggest contributor with 13,939, Italy second with 9,277, followed by 4,365 from the United States.

Coup In Cyprus 'Plotted'

Nicosia, Cyprus (UPI)—Three Nicosia newspapers Wednesday published reports of an imminent coup d'etat against the government of President Makarios.

The reports said the plotters planned to proclaim union of Cyprus with Greece (enosis) "on the basis of the Acheson plan."

The statement referred to the proposal reported to have been made in Geneva by former U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson to solve the Cyprus crisis. The Acheson proposal is said to call for enosis in exchange for some form of permanent Turkish presence on the island.

Makarios said Wednesday he hoped enosis with no strings attached could be achieved quickly. He made the statement at a ceremony welcoming Menelaos Alexandrakis as the new Greek ambassador to Cyprus.

Makarios has said he opposed any settlement that would include a Turkish presence on the island.

Objectives

The newspapers said the objectives of the coup included the isolation or assassination of Makarios and an end to Greek Cypriot approaches to the Soviet Union for arms aid.

The reports appeared in the pro-government newspaper Philelefttheros, the extreme right-wing Makhi, and the pro-Communist Haravghi.

The government press office quoted Makarios Wednesday night as saying the coup rumors "have proved to be totally unfounded." He said, "The people can remain absolutely calm."

A small explosive device went off in the middle of Nicosia's Turkish Cypriot quarter. A taxi office was slightly damaged, but no injuries were reported.

Orders

Authoritative sources reported that telephoned orders reached some sections of the pro-Makarios national guard Tuesday, ordering troops to hand in their weapons.

The three newspapers did not condemn plans for a coup and referred to "forces of action" as being behind it rather than plotters. It was not made clear if the coup planners still were at large.

The reports were coupled with charges by Turkish Cypriots that 200 Greek army personnel in uniform and a quantity of Greek war material arrived in the port city of Limassol aboard the Greek ship Pegasus Monday.

Turkish Cypriot vice president Fazil Kuchuk sent a letter of complaint Tuesday to Gen. Kodendera Thimayya, commander of the United Nations peace-keeping force.

Sherman Hearing Planned Sept. 9

Valentine (AP)—A preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 9 at Valentine for William Sherman, 26, Valentine, on a charge of manslaughter.

Sherman pleaded innocent at arraignment in Cherry County Court and was free under $2,500 bond.

County Attorney Richard Spittler said the charge resulted from the death of 54-year-old John Left Hand Bull of St. Francis, S.D.

Spittler said Left Hand Bull died in a Rosebud, S.D., hospital Friday of injuries suffered the previous day in an incident involving Sherman.

Financial Crisis At Gresham Illuminated Need For FDIC Coverage

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

Two years ago the rural community of Gresham, Neb., faced a financial crisis because its only bank was not covered by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC), and a $500,000 shortage had been uncovered.

A subsequent announcement by the State Banking Department disclosed that 30 other banks in the state likewise were not covered by the FDIC, which insures individual deposits up to $10,000.

Immediately a concerted drive was initiated on the state and local levels to correct the situation. Today, State Banking Director Henry Ley reported that effort is paying off.

"We only have three banks that are not now members of the FDIC," Ley related. "And those three have applications pending for membership, meaning we could have total coverage soon."

Fortunately, the Gresham bank case, which included a pair of suicides, ended on a happy note when officials of the nearby York State Bank reorganized the Gresham institution.

"That experience shook up a lot of people," Ley, who was not state director at the time, recalled. "I'm sure it had a lot to do with the desire by all the banks in the state to join the FDIC.

"We certainly are pleased with the response of the bankers across the state. There's nothing better than a sound financial institution in a community."

Ley said he's "almost certain" the FDIC will approve the three pending applications, and when it does, "it will be a definite mark of achievement for Nebraska banking. It will be a real news story."

Ley, who was appointed director last February following the resignation of Ralph Misko of Lincoln, said Nebraska banking "can have a bright future with proper management." He doesn't think it will be gobbled up by so-called expanding branch banking operations.

"Nebraska is not faced with the branch banking problem in its smaller communities. This may, however, prove to be a problem in the future in towns that have two banks," he said.

Ley feels the Banking Department has adequate control over banking, savings and loan, and credit union operations in the state save one area.

"I think we should have some type of law that would require financial institutions to report to the department any stock transactions that result in a change in the controlling interest in the institutions," he said.

"Now, we don't have any way of finding this out except by word of mouth. It would be very helpful to the department if it was made mandatory to report stock sales that might change control."

Ley said there currently is an effort under way in Congress to enact a federal law along this line.

Portion Of Appalachia Bill 'Ludicrous, Vicious'—Martin

Washington (AP)—The administration's Appalachia development bill has drawn criticism from Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb. He singled out one section as "ludicrous and vicious."

The billion dollar program, Martin said in a report to his state, was hastily drawn, poorly conceived, ineffective and costly.

He particularly singled out a section to authorize the secretary of agriculture to make grants to Appalachia landowners in amounts up to 80% of the cost of improving and developing 25 acres of pastureland for production of feeder calves and other livestock.

"It is almost inconceivable that such grants should be made to increase beef production at a time when foreign beef imports and overproduction of beef in this country have led to disastrously low prices, and when the government is paying farmers to take other and more productive land out of production," he said.

"That's all we need in Nebraska — some good Appalachian beef for our feedlots along with the foreign beef imports."

'Must Better Arms Might Before Talk'

Avalon, Calif. (AP)—Barry Goldwater said Wednesday the United States must improve its military position in South Viet Nam before entering any negotiations for peace there.

But, the Republican presidential nominee added, "My political bones tell me" that the Johnson administration is already making efforts to negotiate a peace before the presidential election.

Goldwater — wearing red trousers, a white polo shirt and blue tennis shoes—spoke to newsmen as he leaned on the stern rail of his vacation cruiser anchored off this Santa Catalina Island resort.

Goldwater said in Cleveland Tuesday he thinks the nation should prepare to be told of a negotiated settlement of guerrilla fighting in South Viet Nam.

Highlights of his other remarks during the rambling 40-minute session:

—He fears any Viet Nam peace negotiated now would not be an honorable one.

—He thinks Red China would have to be a party to any negotiations for a settlement in Viet Nam, but "I wouldn't advocate it (negotiating with China) today."

—He expects word from the Johnson administration "almost any day" of a Viet Nam negotiation, and: "I hope it's not a giveaway to the Communists. I suspect that's what it will be if we have one . . ."

—He could agree with a negotiated peace that insured South Viet Nam's stability and independence, but not with a "troika type" settlement involving Communists, neutralists and pro-Western forces.

'Way To End War'

—Asked whether as president he would seek a negotiated end to the Viet Nam fighting, he said: "I think that any president would always be interested in negotiations. That's the way you end wars."

—He said South Viet Nam and the United States should improve the military situation and make clear to the Communists, including Red China, that they want peace.

—He said the United Nations might be used as a negotiation vehicle. "We can't go in there and negotiate. That's not our government," he said of South Viet Nam.

—He thinks, "The enemy should be the one . . . that should institute negotiations . . ."

—He slapped at the Democrats on civil rights. "I don't think the Democratic platform made any decent mention of it," Goldwater said. "I think the Republican platform is much stronger."

Nikita Plans On Long Visit With Czechs

Prague, Czechoslovakia (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will come to Czechoslovakia Thursday for a visit lasting 10 days, Prague radio announced Wednesday.

It was the first announcement of the length of Khrushchev's stay here. He originally had been expected to make a brief visit, essentially to attend the 20th anniversary celebrations of the Slovak uprisings against the Nazis.

The surprise length of Khrushchev's visit underlined the importance of the talks he will have with Czech President Antonin Novotny and other leaders.

He is expected to discuss with them mainly the need to close ranks in the ideological conflict with Communist China and steps to bring the economies of the Soviet European bloc closer together.

An All Year-Around Delight

Want a deluxe fresh fruit dessert you can serve all year 'round? Here it is, and it's called Banana Nut Dessert. This blue-ribbon banana treat derives from a cherished family recipe handed down by generations of Indiana cooks, and it's so delectable you'll adopt it as your very own.

Nothing could be simpler to make. This satin-smooth dessert is just layers of creamy pudding, layers of fresh banana slices, chopped salted nuts, and mounds of whipped cream for garnish. Our recipe uses dry toasted peanuts but you can also use the regular salted kind, or those which come salted in the shell, though they're more trouble. Somehow those salty, crunchy nuts provide just the right contract for sweet bananas and creamy pudding.

Indiana farm wives call this delightful combination "Banana Salad" when they carry it to picnics and church suppers, but it's really a dessert recipe. You can spoon it from a large bowl in generous portions, or layer it in sherbet or parfait glasses for individual serving.

Whenever you want a simple yet elegant dessert, make this luscious Banana Nut Dessert. Your family and guests will ask for more!

BANANA NUT DESSERT

Heavy saucepan, 2-qt.
1 cup sugar
⅔ cup regular all-purpose flour
1 quart milk
4 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
6 bananas, sliced
1 cup chopped dry toasted peanuts
Sweetened whipped cream (optional)

In saucepan blend together sugar and flour; gradually add milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Stir about one-fourth of mixture into eggs; return all to pan. Continue to cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, for an additional 2 minutes. Remove from heat; add butter and vanilla; stir until butter is melted. Cover and cool. In 2-quart serving dish layer pudding, bananas and nuts. For top layer omit bananas just sprinkle nuts over pudding. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

Serving Variation: Prepare individual servings by layering pudding, bananas and nuts into sherbet or parfait glasses.

The Pickling Season Is Here

There really is nothing quite like the pride that comes from serving something that you have put up with your own hands. You can try your hand at such popular pickles as dill, bread 'n' butter, or icicle, or specializ in the types found in the gourmet sections of supermarkets. Since so many fruits and vegetables can be pickled, you may even want to try inventing some new p' 'kles.

Because of modern pickling equipment and methods and brand vinegars of consistent quality and strength, home pickling today actually is easier and faster than it was in grandmother's time. And it's fun, too.

Whether you learned pickling from your mother or a recipe book, just remember a few fundamentals. Make sure that the fruits and vegetables you use are fresh and of good quality. Remember, too, that fresh spices are full of flavor; old spices are weak.

The flavor of pickles may be changed by varying the kind and amount of seasoning and by adding a little more ora little less sugar or vinegar. Finally, make sure that pickling utensils are clean and that filled jars are sealed securely.

Now try your hand at putting up these succulent delicacies for the year round pleasure of your family and friends.

ZUCCHINI PICKLES

4 pounds zucchini
1 pound small onions
½ cup salt
1 quart vinegar
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons celery seed
2 teaspoons turmeric
2 teaspoons mustard seed
1 teaspoon dry mustard

Cut unpeeled zucchini into very thin slices. Peel onions and slice thinly. Cover vegetables with water and add salt. Let stand 1 hour; drain. Combine vinegar, sugar, celery seed, turmeric, mustard seed, and dry mustard; bring to boil and pour over vegetables. Let stand 1 hour. Bhing to a boil and cook 3 minutes. Place in jars and seal at once. Yield: 8 pints.

GREEN TOMATO PICKLES

5 5-inch cucumbers, pared and sliced
1½ pounds green tomatoes, cored and thinly sliced
1½ pounds onions, sliced
4 green peppers, chopped
1 red pepper, chopped
3 cups vinegar
3 cups granulated sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon celery seed
1 tablespoon mustard seed

Wash and prepare vegetables. Combine vinegar, sugar, salt, celery seed, and mustard seed; bring to boil. Add vegetables and simmer 10 minutes. Continue simmering while quickly packing one hot sterilized jar at a time. Fill to ⅛-inch from top. Be sure vinegar solution cov s vegetables. Seal each jar at once. Yield: 5 pints.

PICKLED COCKTAIL CARROTS

1 quart small young carrots of uniform size, or strips cut in uniform size
1 quart vinegar
3 tablespoons mixed pickling spices tied in a cloth bag
2 cups sugar (for more tang use only one cup)

Wash carrots and remove blemishes and stringy tips. Put in a covered vessel and cook until the skins can be slipped off easily. Do not overcook. Make a syrup by boiling together for 10 minutes the vinegar, mixed pickling spices, and sugar. Remove spice bag. Put carrots in a large bowl or enamel pan. Pour hot syrup over carrots. Let carrots stand overnight in syrup. Next day return carrots and syrup to cooking vessel. Bring quickly to boil and continue cooking for about 3 minutes. Pack carrots in sterilized jars. Fill with hot syrup. Seal immediately. Yield: 2 pints.

Breakfast Or Lunch

Lazy weekends, blissful vacation days when the clock ticks on without a single harried glance—these are days when a late leisurely breakfast is pure delight.

Individual coffee cakes, bursting with blueberries and rejoicing in the added flavor and texture contributed by golden wheat germ, are the perfect coffee accompaniment, on such occasions. And as you butter each bite you know that every delicious morsel is laden with the extra value of vitamins and minerals that the wheat germ contributes.

So easy to make, you can start preparation in the cool of the evening. Combine the dry ingredients for the cake, and prepare the topping mixture the night before. In the morning finish the cake mixture, put on the topping and bake briefly. Serve piping hot, with a big pot of coffee.

WHEAT GERM BLUEBERRY COFFEE CAKES

2 tablespoons sugar
2⅓ cups biscuit mix, divided
½ cup wheat germ, divided
1 egg
¾ cup milk
1 cup cultivated blueberries
⅓ cup brown sugar
¼ cup cold butter
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Combine sugar, 2 cups biscuit mix and ¼ cup wheat germ. Mix well. Add egg and milk. Fold in berries. Combine remaining ⅓ cup biscuit mix, brown sugar, butter, cinnamon and remaining ¼ cup wheat germ; blend with fork until crumbly. Spoon batter into well-greased individual pie pans, filling ⅔ full. Top with crumbly mixture. Bake at 400° for 15 to 18 minutes. Makes 6 coffee cakes.

Muffins Deluxe

There are muffins — and muffins. Every nice muffin has its claim to fame, but the following recipe is an extra-special one that puts the muffin in the gourmet class.

PINEAPPLE OATMEAL MUFFINS

1 (8½-ounce) can crushed pineapple
1 cup rolled oats, uncooked
½ cup dairy sour cream
⅓ cup soft shortening
⅓ cup brown sugar (packed)
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 egg, beaten
1¼ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt

Combine undrained pineapple, oats and sour cream; let stand 15 minutes. Cream shortening, sugar and orange peel thoroughly. Beat in egg. Resift flour with baking powder, soda and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with pineapple mixture. Spoon into greased large muffin cups. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Makes one dozen muffins.

A New Variation

For those homemakers who are silently crying "My kingdom for a new way to prepare chicken" your call has been answered. Teenagers will call Chicken Chipcake "the most"; men will say "it's great!" and you will smile beamingly as you accept the praise from everyone who is luck enough to taste it. Here's the magic combination.

MERLIN'S CHICKEN CHIPCAKE

2 cups unsifted flour
3¼ tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. sugar
1½ cups crushed potato chips
1 tsp. celery seed
½ cup shortening
1 egg
1 cup milk
3 cups diced, cooked chicken
1 cup frozen peas—cooked
1 cup seedless white grapes
½ cup sliced Brazil nuts
2 pimentoes—thinly sliced
1 tsp. celery seed
¾ cups mayonnaise
1 tsp. pure rum extract
3 tbsp. peanut oil

Sift flour with baking powder, salt and sugar. Add crushed potato chips, celery seed. Cut the shortening into this until mealy. Add egg to the milk and beat with a fork. Add to first mixture, stirring just enough to dampen all ingredients. Spread half of this mixture in a well-greased 9" square pan. Brush with peanut oil. Spread remaining mixture over top. Bake at 425 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until done to "straw test."

To make Chicken . . . In a large bowl mix chicken, peas, white grapes, nuts and pimentoes. In another small bowl mix mayonnaise with celery seed and rum flavoring. Add to chicken and toss to mix.

Cut Chipcake into squares. Split squares and fill with Chicken—reserving some of chicken for topping. Sprinkle with paprika. Serve at once. Makes 9 servings.

This is a most unusual main dish and really brings the compliments.

Spread

SPICY APRICOT BUTTER

6 cups apricot pulp
3 cups sugar
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon ground ginger

Halve and pit fresh apricots and cook until soft, adding only enough water to prevent sticking. Press thrugh a sieve or food mill and measure 6 cups. Add sugar and spice and cook until thick, stirring frequently. Takes about 30 minutes. Add lemon juice and pour into hot jars, leaving ¼-inch head space. Adjust caps and process 10 mintues in boiling water bath.

Interesting Guests At Dinner Party

An actor, a heroine and a publisher were together at a dinner party for which Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Martin were host and hostess on Tuesday evening at Hotel Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Martin paid courtesy to the author — Mrs. Sam McKelvie of Phoenix, Ariz. — and heroine, Mrs. Essie Davis about whom Mrs. McKelvie has written a book with the intriguing title of "Sandhills Essie."

The Sugar In The Tea

By NONI SPINK

A new look is brewing in iced tea commercials. And the sugar in the tea is a recent visitor to Lincoln, Cely Carrillo, who is the girl that picks all those 'young' leaves on the Tender Leaf Tea television commercials.

Miss Carrillo was in Lincoln for the recent convention of Mu Phi Epsilon, professional women's music sorority, when she was the featured soloist for the Artist Concert Monday evening.

Born in Malaya, Philippine Islands, she attended the Juilliard School of Music, winning talent scholarships for seven consecutive years and earning her bachelor's and master's degrees. An actress as well as a petite soprano, she holds a professional actor's dipolma from the American Theatre Wing in New York.

Her career has been a potpourri of success. In addition to a part in a movie, "Rampage," with Robert Mitchum, which was filmed in Hawaii, she was the understudy for the lead part in "Flower Drum Song," on Broadway. After playing Mei-Li for five months in New York, Miss Carrillo and the company went on tour of the major cities. She stopped in Omaha with the show three years ago.

Miss Carrillo is married to Anthony Onrubia, whom she met while on a tour of the Philippines. He is a businessman in New York, and they have a daughter, Cynthia, who is two and a half years old.

She said, "Cynthia always gets so excited when my commercial comes on the TV set. She knows the entire thing, even the jingle."

Her mother who has moved to the United States, is currently a professor of Spanish at Nashville, Tenn. and has finally accepted the busy life of her daughter, although she criticizes, "You don't spend enough time with Cynthia."

Before her arrival in Lincoln, Miss Carrillo had finished two weeks of civic concert in the East, where she appeared with Giorgio Tozzi of the Metropolitan Opera and Elizabeth Allen in "South Pacific."

As far as the television industry is concerned, she is not confined to commercials. In addition to being a guest on the Johnny Carson "Tonight" show, she will star in an episode of the "Virginian" scheduled for this October and entitled, "The Hour Of The Tiger."

After leaving Lincoln, Miss Carrillo plans to return to New York and her home for a short rest before resuming her career.)

REA Ladies

A program of varied interest has been planned for the wives of directors and employees of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association who will be attending the organization's semi annual meeting in Lincoln on Friday.

Mrs. John Clema of Lincoln, general manager and co-chairman for the ladies program, Mrs. Leland Kitt, Palisade, program chairman, and Mrs. Orrin Kohlmeier, Craig, alternate chairman, have planned a smorgasborg dinner and evening of entertainment for Thursday at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Friday morning, a ceramics demonstration will be given by Mrs. Bess Kuhn of Beaver Crossing and Mrs. Elsie Hunzeker, after which the ladies will join their husbands to hear an address by Gerald Diddle, western area director of the Rural Electrification Administration.

Luncheon speaker will be Al Hauffe, president of the national REA, and the Friday afternoon program will feature a hat skit by Mrs. Dwain Williams of Broken Bow, and Mrs. Dale Erlewine, Grant.

Dear Abby

Bury Your Relationship

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Like the taxidermist whose problem was a fiancee who couldn't stand the sight of stuffed anmals, I have a problem. I am a mortician, and my fiancee can't stand my work, although I never discuss it after hours.

After having gone to mortician college and investing much time and money in my profession, I've become somewhat successful, and don't want to give it up. My fiancee refuses to marry me unless I change my profession. I love her, but if I am going to support her, unlike the taxidermist, I can't store my zoo in the attic.

IN DEAD EARNEST

DEAR IN: If your fiancee doesn't dig your profession, it's time to bury your relationship.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Saturday night I was asked to babysit for some neighbors who had just moved into our neighborhood. They agreed to pay me 50c an hour and asked me to be at their house at 7:30 p.m. sharp. I got their at about 7:25. They didn't leave the house until 8:30. They came home at 12:30 that evening and paid me two dollars. I didn't say anything. My mother said that since I was asked to be at their home at 7:30 I should have charged them for the time I sat and waited for them to leave. Do you agree with her? Should I mention to them they they owe me 50c if they ask me to sit for them again? Or should I refuse to sit for them They were very nice otherwise. I am a 17-year-old girl.

CHEATED

DEAR CHEATED: Since you accepted the two dollars and said nothing, your silence implied that you were satisfied. Say nothing, but should they ask you to sit for them again, tell them you charge from the time you are asked to be at their home.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you'd settle something for my husband and me. About two years ago we went to a housewarming party for two of our closest friends. We gave them an expensive present. We visit them in their home often and we have never seen our gift in any room. I want to ask about it but my husband thinks it would be rude. What would you do?

LIBBY

DEAR LIBBY: I'd listen to my husband.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I were first married we were so broke our wedding party consisted of us, our witnesses and the preacher. After the ceremony we took them out for dinner. They ordered the most expensive steaks on the menu, so we had to shorten our honeymoon by one day.

A year later, on our anniversary, we had a beautiful wedding with all the trimmings. I had a white gown and veil. White stands for purity, not virginity, and a married woman can be as pure as any virgin. The only difference between this and a first wedding was in our wording of the invitations, which read, "To the renewal of their vows" instead of "To the marriage of." our minister said couples can stage a wedding and renew their vows as many times as they wish. In fact, he recommends it. Sincerely,

"A RENEWER"

TALK

Suburbia Combines Play With Work

Life and news never can be too dull when there are brides-elect to talk about—travelers to mention—and, of course, parties for the brides-elect.

This morning two brides of early September are in the news. One of these is Miss Jacquelyn Mowbray whose marriage to Ronald Coleman of El Paso, Tex., will be solemnized on Tuesday, Sept. 1, and the second is Miss Sally Jean Botsford who has chosen Friday, Sept. 4, for her marriage to Robert Degenhardt.

* * *

The current week is filled with courtesies for Miss Mowbray, but before we begin on the long list we want to tell you that Mr. Coleman arrived in Lincoln during the past weekend—and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Coleman of El Paso were on Wednesday's arrivals list.

On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Mowbray complimented Mr. and Mrs. Coleman when they entertained at dinner at their home, and this evening the guests from El Paso will be included among the guests when Mr. and Mrs. Mark Seacrest and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wright, are dinner hosts and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seacrest. The party will pay prenuptial courtesy to Miss Mowbray and her fiance.

* * *

Miss Mowbray, however, was busy on Wednesday afternoon—the honoree at a tea for which Mrs. Dwight Perkins was hostess at her home. During the afternoon the soon-to-be-bride was presented with a linen shower.

* * *

Miss Mowbray and Mr. Coleman will share honors on Friday evening when Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace deBrown are a buffet dinner host and hostess at their home. The guest list will include members of the families.

Miss Mowbray and Mr. Coleman were busy on Tuesday evening, too—They went to Omaha to attend a party in their honor for which Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ralston were host and hostess at their home.

* * *

This is the morning that Miss Botsford has chosen to announce the members of the bridal entourage.

For her matron of honor Miss Botsford has chosen her sister, Mrs. J.W. Fields, Jr., and Miss Sandra Gill of Kansas City. The bride's small niece, Linda Fields, will be the flower girl, and Bob Rosenow will carry the ring.

Ray Rosenow will serve Mr. Degenhardt as best man, and the groomsmen will be Joe Henderson of Omaha; Tim Brown of Lexington; Michael McCunn, Robert Pardee and James Myrberg.

* * *

Off to Raleigh, N.C.—to attend a wedding—has gone Mrs. W. C. Hoffman who will spend a few weeks as the house guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Boggan. The wedding involves Mrs. Hoffman's grandson, William O. Boggan—Sigma Nu at Nebraska—and Miss Delores Murray, which takes place this weekend.

* * *

And in Chicago this week are Mrs. Leon Nefsky and Mrs. Allen Wilson, who are attending the national convention of the American Hospital Association.

Mrs. Nefsky is chairman of the Nebraska Hospital Council on Auxiliaries.

Since we are on the subject of hospitals there is no time like right now to mention that the Lincoln General Hospital Auxiliary has sent out invitations for its annual fashion show production to be held on Oct. 13, as a benefit for Lincoln General Hospital.

PARK MANOR

The one really nice thing about these cool days is that they are ideal for getting all of those little things, which accumulated during those extra-warm days, out of the way.

Judging from the looks of the lawns and shrubbery in suburbia, considerable time probably will be spent outside waging a war on weeds. But Suburbia votes No! on the all-work-and-no-play question, so there will be fun as usual.

Living has undergone a definite metamorphosis since 1914, but one thing has remained the same — wedding anniversaries. And Dr. and Mrs. Willis Moreland and their children, Julie, David, Brian, and Nancy, were on hand last week to help celebrate one of these.

Dr. Moreland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moreland observed their 50th wedding anniversary in Warrensburg, Mo., with the aid of their family. The Park Manor residents returned home on Monday from Warrensburg after spending a week there.

Strains of the Happy Birthday song will be heard this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marc Anthony, when their son, Chip, celebrates his seventh birthday.

Since the party will be a wiener roast, Chip might be blowing out the flame on more things than candles.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. James Fitzpatrick and their children, Mary Margaret, Tom, and David, have returned from a summer's stay at Gulf Port, Miss., where they were the guests of Mrs. Fitzpatrick's mother, Mrs. O. F. Cassibry.

Mary Margaret's sojourn in Mississippi began in June, and she was joined in late July by her mother and brothers. Lt. Col. Fitzpatrick arrived in August to spend the rest of the month with his family.

And arriving Wednesday morning at the Fitzpatrick home was a visitor from Gulf Port. He is Richard Thompson, who will be the family's houseguest for a few days.

Suitcases at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Alden and son John were unpacked Saturday evening, after their return from a vacation spent at Ten Mile Lake, Minn.

Their daughter, Pris, has been visiting with a friend, Miss Maria Louis, in Golden, Colo. for her summer holiday.

Opening lead—ten of diamonds.

A red flag means danger, and it doesn't really matter whether it is waved at you on the highway or at the bridge table. In either case the thing to do is slow down and be careful.

South was in four spades and West led a diamond. Declarer won with the king and played a spade. West took the king, East discarding the nine of hearts.

Disregarding the signal for a moment, West played another diamond. Declarer won with the ace and led a second trump. West took the ace and now played a low heart to his partner's king. The contract was defeated when East returned a diamond which West ruffed.

East-West did well to find the only way to upset the contract. However. South would have made the hand had he heeded the warning implicit in West's opening lead.

The leading indicated that West had either one or two diamonds and was trying for a ruff. The bidding indicated that West had the ace or king of spades, possibly both, as well as conceivably all three missing trumps.

In view of this, South should have led a heart at trick two in order to disrupt enemy communications.

This play would have made the contract. It would have cut a vital link between the East-West hands and rendered the defense ineffective by making a later diamond ruff impossible.

Even if it had turned out that the ten of diamonds was a singleton, the heart play at trick two could do no harm.

If West had a singleton diamond and three trumps, the contract could not be made. period.

If West had a singleton diamond and two trumps, the contract could not be defeated, since South would lose only one trump trick after the ruff.

Finally, if West had two diamonds and three trumps, the heart play was absolutely essential to prevent the impending ruff.

Atom Goes To Private Firms

. . . BILL LIFTS FEDERAL OWNERSHIP

Washington (AP) — The federal government offered the atom to full private ownership Wednesday. This puts power-producing nuclear materials into the arena of free, competitive enterprise.

President Johnson signed into law a bill lifting total federal ownership and set deadlines for the Atomic Energy Commission's current leasing of nuclear materials.

Private ownership is permitted now. But the AEC retains license powers and control over health, safety and national security factors.

By Jan. 1, 1971, all new AEC distributions of nuclear materials must be by sale.

By June 10, 1973, any AEC-leased materials still in private hands must be purchased by the private firms, or retaking the federal government fully out of the nuclear fuel for private power business.

By Jan. 1, 1969, private power producers may buy raw uranium from mines, and enrich it themselves, or buy enriched uranium from private sources.

The effect of all of these deadlines — set by bipartisan congressional action — will be to create a full-fledged private nuclear industry, without federal competition.

On a short term basis, it may create a slight increase in costs of nuclear-produced industry, but as free competition takes hold, the increase is expected to "wash out," an AEC spokesman said.

Beyond that, the AEC could not say what free competition would do to stimulate nuclear power production in the United States, or to mature the industry.

Private power producers can now handle nuclear fuels on their books just as they do the outright purchase of expendable fossil fuels such as coal and oil, also used to produce electricity.

Full Title

In the future, as now, private producers will hold full title to potential nuclear weapons materials such as plutonium produced in their reactors. However, the government will monitor sales and use of these materials, the AEC spokesman said.

Plutonium, the nuclear bomb material, builds up in some operating reactors, but it requires special processing to remove it from the uranium fuel elements. A privately owned fuel servicing plant is being established near Buffalo, N.Y., to handle such processes.

The law signed by Johnson repeals earlier statutory requirements that the government own all special nuclear materials—that is those which can be used in power production, or for nuclear weapons uses.

The President, in signing the measure, said it is no longer practical to require full government ownership of all nuclear fuels. The new law, he said, offers proper protection for the people of the United States, but also meets "the needs of modern times."

Catholic Principals Meet 'Overwhelming Success'

A conference at the Nebraska Center attended by the principals of nearly 80 Catholic elementary and secondary schools in the Grand Island and Lincoln dioceses has been termed "an overwhelming success" by Father James D. Dawson, superintendent of schools for the Lincoln diocese.

This is the first time the two dioceses have held such a conference, according to Father Dawson. "We hope very sincerely," he said, "that such conferences will be continued in the future.

"We intend to make this an annual affair with statewide participation. I think every one participating in it has been quite surprised at the value something like this can have."

One of the highlights of the conference was a panel on "Catholic School Public Relations." William Bogar, principal of Lincoln High School, was one of the panel speakers. He emphasized the importance of "loving the unloved" in public relations work.

"A complaint," he said, "is not something that should be feared or unwanted. Rather, it should be welcomed as an opportunity for you to communicate with the public and explain things, an opportunity to establish better relations."

Sessions on the newly published "Handbook of Policies and Regulations" for Catholic elementary and secondary schools of Nebraska were to be conducted by Msgr. R. C. Ulrich, superintendent of schools for the archdiocese of Omaha; the Rev. Father Paul J. Button, school superintendent for the Grand Island diocese; and Father Dawson.

Thursday the principals will hear talks from two members of the state department of education. George Rotter and Paul Belz.

After numerous "buzz Sessions" in which principals and teachers exchange ideas on such topics as faculty meetings, in-service training of teachers and home and school associations, the conference will wind up its activities Thursday.

Hinton Sentenced On Arson Charge

Beatrice (AP) — Kenneth Hinton, 21, Liberty, was sentenced to 18 months to four years in the Nebraska Penal Complex Wednesday on an arson charge.

He was charged in connection with an April 24 fire which destroyed a barn on the Arthur Acton farm, also burned was the contents of government-owned milo.

Hinton who pleaded guilty, appeared before District Judge Ernest Hubka.

Pan Am Resumes Flights As Crippling Strike Ends

Washington (AP)—Pan American World Airways planes lifted into the air throughout the world Wednesday while negotiators hammered out final details of a new labor agreement that followed a brief, crippling strike.

"Normal flights resumed throughout the entire system," said a Pan American spokesman at the New York headquarters offices.

The spokesman said there were a few brief delays at first but operations were 99% on schedule by midday and would be fully on time by nightfall.

In Washington, negotiators for the airline and the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union put finishing touches on their agreement that ended the strike. This was less than 24 hours after it had completely shut down the airline.

No details of the agreement were announced pending ratification by the approximately 12,000 maintenance and ground service workers, flight stewards, stewardesses and pursers covered under three separate contracts.

But one union spokesman called it the best labor agreement ever negotiated in the industry. "We're all happy with it," said James J. Horst, Transport Workers' vice president and director of the union's air transport division.

The agreement was reached with the help of the National Mediation Board.

The union had sought 15% pay raises for all workers affected. Company President Juan Trippe had said several hours before the strike ended that Pan American had offered increases amounting to 5 to 8% the first year and 10% the second.

It was not known whether the company went above this to achieve the settlement.

Ratification is expected by next week.

Only about 9,000 of the workers covered by the new agreement were involved in the strike. The other 3,000 work at missile facilities at Cape Kennedy, Fla, or on military charter flights and were covered by no-strike agreements with the government.

OFFICIAL DEFENDS DEVELOPMENT ACT

David Osterhout, chief of the Nebraska Resources Division, Tuesday defended the state's Industrial Development Act (IDA) in the wake of union criticism.

"It has been a very useful tool in getting new industry to locate in the state and in allowing that industry already located here to grow," he said.

State AFL-CIO President Richard Nisley of Omaha, charged earlier that the act, passed by the 1961 Legislature, is being used to deter organized labor in Nebraska. He called the act a "two-bladed sword wielded by professional politicians and business interests" to defeat union organizing efforts.

Nisley commented after the Lancaster County Board of Commissioners approved the issuance of $650,000 in IDA revenue bonds to the Hy-Gain Electronics Corp. of Lincoln for plant expansion purposes.

Employes of Hy-Gain, which makes antenna systems for private and government uses, recently rejected by a two-to-one margin a proposal that they be represented by the United Rubber Workers, AFL-CIO.

Osterhout said he doesn't know why Nisley opposes the act. He said the state AFL-CIO was one of the leading forces behind the proposal before it became law.

"There may be an area of misunderstanding here that I don't know about," he said.

According to Osterhout, the resources division's job is to create more jobs in the state through an expanded industrial base. He said the Industrial Development Act has been "very helpful" in this respect.

"It's one of the factors, although by no means the only one, that has made it possible for Nebraska to attract new industry. Without the act, Nebraska would be handicapped."

He said all of Nebraska's citizens benefit from the act, particularly the laboring class.

Nebraska began in earnest its stepped-up effort to attract new industry when the legislature passed the act unanimously. Osterhout said the Hy-Gain revenue bonds were the 17th issued under the act.

The act allows cities, villages and counties to issue revenue bonds to finance construction of industrial plants. It differs from similar legislation in other states in that it doesn't offer property tax concessions.

TEEN-AGE SHOW HERE TONIGHT

Dick Clark, emcee of television's American Bandstand, and teen-age favorites from the show will be appearing at Pershing Auditorium, Thursday night at 8 p.m.

Recording stars appearing with Clark are Fabian, The Rip Chords, Gene Pitney, Round Robin, The Crystals, Bobby Freeman, Brian Hyland, The Jelly Beans, The Dixie Cups, Reflections, The Premiers, Major Lance, Mike Clifford, George Buchanon, and The Liverpools.

Man Returned To Grant For Arraignment

A 57-year-old Grant man, Floyd Stewart, was returned to Grant Wednesday by federal authorities after he was arrested earlier at Lincoln Municipal Airport by Perkins County, Lancaster County and federal authorities.

The arrest was made on a warrant in connection with an alleged irregularity at the Kellogg Grain Co. grain elevator in Grant.

The office of County Judge Thurston H. Bechtel said a criminal complaint charging Stewart with executing and delivering false receipts for warehouse goods has been filed there.

Perkins Co. Atty. Frederick Wanek said Stewart would probably be arraigned Wednesday.

Nitroglycerin Explosion Fatal To One In Brazil

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil (AP)—A nitroglycerin explosin killed at least one person in a munitions factory at Piquete in Sao Paulo state, military authorities said.

At least four persons were missing and an undetermined number was injured, the authorities added.

Good Nap After Game

Barnsley, England (AP)—Soccer fan Willie Webster, 83, fell asleep during a game and woke up alone and locked in the stadium. Eventually rescued by a stadium official, Willie said: "It was a boring game." The score: Barnsley 0, Queen's Park Rangers 0.

Burney Hits Subsidies

Ogallala (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, Republican candidate for governor, said "every thinking Nebraskan should vigorously oppose the pending legislation that would provide federal subsidies to the cattle industry in the Appalachian mountain region."

Addressing the Keith County Republican women here, Burney said "it doesn't make sense to further undermine the Midwest beef industry with federal tax dollars designed to buy votes in another area."

He said the Johnson administration farm policies have handed Midwest beef interests their biggest jolt since the 1930s. "Now they propose to use Nebraska tax money to subsidize beef cattle in an area that can compete with us only through a subsidy program."

Burney added that up to now "Midwest Democratic governors, including our own, have made only token opposition." He said he thought this was because this was one of President Lyndon Johnson's "must" bills. "Among Democrats, what Lyndon wants, Lyndon gets," Burney said.

Swanson Free On Bond Pending Friday Hearing

Los Angeles (AP) — John Garland Swanson, 29, of Wauneta, Neb., is free on bond pending a hearing on Friday before the U.S. Commissioner.

Swanson, charged in Nebraska with taking money under false pretense, was arrested by the Federal Bureau of Investigation last week on a fugitive warrant.

The U.S. attorney's office here said Wednesday that on Friday Swanson will be turned over to local authorities if a warrant from Nebraska is here at that time.

The California authorities then will turn him over to Nebraska authorities to be returned to Nebraska. If the warrant is not here, the case will be continued again.

The federal attorney's office said however, that if Swanson fights extradition a court fight would ensue.

Swanson is charged in Nebraska in connection with money borrowed from banks in Lincoln and Imperial, Neb.

State Beef Cattle Meet Set Nov. 9

Ogallala (AP)—A meeting of the Nebraska Beef Cattle Improvement Association will be held at Ogallala the day before the annual bull sale, Elmer Vogel, association president, said.

The meeting will be Nov. 9 and the bull sale Nov. 10.

Both national and state experts will speak on beef cattle improvement. Officers will be elected during the business meeting.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

The mophead Beatles came to town last week. "We came to Sam Frank's sister to ride the cable cars," they were quoted by our alert press.

This is a pretty good remark. San Francisco is very proud of its hills and cable cars. Such a statement (we excuse that punny "Sam Frank's sister") proved that the Liverpool starlings can't be all bad.

Fortunately, I had visiting me a 13-year-old niece who was able to tell me what the Beatles think about and why they are too much.

Fortunately, too, she brought her Beatle albums with her. The newest recordings. She played them, Loud, so you didn't miss the good parts.

"Does it contain a horrid yeah! yeah! number called "Hold My Hand," my dear?" I asked.

"Oh, that's old," she said. "The best ones are 'Long Tall Sally' and 'Please Mr. Postman.'"

She could recall "Hold My Hand" which was a stopper on the Sullivan show. But just barely. I guess it is old. Couple of months old anyway.

How time flies.

While the Beatles were housed in San Francisco's new Hilton Hotel, she went down and stood for many hours on the sidewalk (with some 3000 other star-gazers).

They stared hopefully at the upper windows. (It turned out later that the Bealtes were in rooms on the other side of the hotel. But that's all right. They were in there somewhere.)

Nearly all the girls (behind the ropes, guarded by police) carried portable radios which they held constantly to their ears. They seemed to be tuned to various stations. But I suppose they thought you never can tell who'll be on next.

It could be them! Gosh!

Ah, blessed modern days of communication. We have kept in touch with the whole affair by TV.

TV put out regular flashes. What the Beatles were up to. What the crowds were doing. What psychologists said about it.

I am an old hand at this TV thing. It is very simple and inexpensive to have your TV rigged with auxiliary earphones. Plug in the earphones and the sound goes into the phones, not into the room.

If you have two pairs of earphones, you can split them and hang four children on them.

The kids tend to yell when they speak. Their ears are full of loud sound, and to them it seems they have to yell. In this way, we were alerted at all strategic showings:

"Look! The Beatles!"

☆ ☆ ☆

It turned out we were on TV! Anyway, we think we were on. Just behind the sign the girl was carrying which said: "I Love You Ringo."

Because we remember this sign. And probably were right behind it when the TV was on it.

If we had been in front of the sign, we would have been on TV! Right in front of the hotel where they were! Gosh!

☆ ☆ ☆

During this emotional crisis, the smallest girl child sat quietly by and ate Kleenex. . .She can eat a whole box of Kleenex if nobody watches her and cries: "She's eating Kleenex again!" Then we take it away. Kleenex is expensive. She can eat yesterday's newspaper.

The youngest boy eats paint if given a chance.

We have good and diversified tastes. Digestions like goats.

I should add that the communications system was turned on at 6 a.m. and was not turned off until we were sure the Beatles had gone to bed. About 10.

We were lively as a wartime communications center. Eyes on TV. Transistor radio to the ear. Console FM searching the air waves for any leftover fragments.

Big Day For Naming County Fair Winners

It was the big day of naming winners at the Lancaster County fair Wednesday as judges tackled their heaviest schedule of the fair in going over a record number of exhibits to find their winners.

In addition to more 4-H winners, open class first place ribbons were awarded in fine arts, textiles, and home products categories.

300 Scouts, Leaders 'Invade' Fort Robinson

Fort Robinson—This northwest Nebraska colorful military post which has seen cavalrymen, Indians, enemy prisoners, and war dogs come and go, was "occupied" Wednesday by another force, the Boy Scouts.

A peaceful "invasion force" of some 300 Boy Scouts and their leaders from eastern Nebraska arrived by train, made a triumphant entry into Crawford, and proceeded on to their camp area, located a short distance from where the Indian Chief Crazy Horse was killed.

The Scouts from the Covered Wagon Council did not take a chance on being able to feel the presence of Crazy Horse, Dull Knife and other Indian stalwarts in the atmosphere of a fort's well preserved building; they brought along a genuine chief—Spotted Back.

The chief, whose name has rapidly become a household word in the drive to reawaken Nebraska's Western heritage, was joined by other celebrities of Omaha traveled with the group in Scout uniform.

Sparkplug behind the outing is state Senator Eugene Mahoney, president of the Councils southern district, who accompanied the Scouts on the train. Mahoney and other scout officials were quick to emphasize, however, that the project with its complicated logistics problem of moving 300 boys 11-15 years old across the state was made possible by the team work of many persons and organizations.

Many adult leaders took vacation time to go on the trip. An advanced party of four—Ed Kucirek, William Spradlin, Jimmy Nelson, and Joe Gresco—the latter two cooks worked out the numerous details necessary to make the operation click smoothly. Kucirek praised Crawford townspeople, along with Jim Ingalls and John Kurtz, the respective heads of the University of Nebraska Beef Research Station and the state park facility at Fort Robinson, forgoing all else to make the jamboree a success.

Meals will be prepared for them utilizing the services of two Lincoln Air Force Base cooks, masters at preparing food for large groups.

in a parade through Crawford. Included were Dee Hagemeister of Crawford, the 1964-65 Nebraska state high school rodeo queen, and another home town sparkler in rodeo circles, Jennie Moore, runner up all around cowgirl in 1964 Nebraska high school rodeo competition.

Rites At Crawford

Preceeding the parade, a train size ceremony at Crawford featured presentation of Nebraska state flags by Boy Scout officials to Crawford Mayor Bill Hudson and Chamber of Commerce President Bill Ruffing. A similar presentation was made to the mayor and chamber president at Alliance.

After the ceremonial procession down main street, which included antique cars, high school rodeo participants and the contingent of marching Scouts, the visitors were hustled into shuttle buses which moved them to the camping area. Boy Scout troop flags were raised across the road from the old post parade grounds, where troop colors of U.S. cavalry units once snapped the breeze in review, the first Nebraskaland jamboree involving Scouts from parts of Douglas, Cass, and Sarpy Counties was officially under way.

Travel Via Train

The Scouts, accounting for several special cars on a special Burlington passenger train, ate breakfast at Alliance after traveling overnight from Omaha. The meal was served by the Alliance Junior Chamber of Commerce. Joining the group at Crawford was State Senator George Gerdes. State Senator William Skarda

Oil Worker Killed; Wind Topples Rig

Dix (AP)—A Kimball man was killed Wednesday afternoon when an oil field repair rig was toppled by a gust of wind and he was crushed beneath a steel tower.

He was Dwayne K. Schieber, 34, Kimball, an employe of Harley's Welding and Well Service Company of Kimball, the owner of the rig.

Fellow workers said the wind turned over the tower and the truck on which it was mounted. The accident occurred at an oil well site 2½ miles north and three miles east of Dix.

Schieber is survived by his wife and one child.

Two Youths Face Juvenile Charges In Wymore Case

Beatrice (AP) — A 17-year-old boy faces juvenile charges here as an outgrowth of the withdrawal of $4,000 from his grandfather's savings account.

Deputy County Attorney Harlan Hubka said Wednesday a second youth, also 17, also faces juvenile charges. The boy already is on probation from the juvenile court.

Hubka said a third youth, 15, will be turned over to Colorado authorities. The boy has been on parole from the Colorado State Correctional Institution at Golden.

The money was taken from the account of Earl Crawford of Wymore after his savings account book was taken from his home.

Sheriff Fred Steinkamp Jr. said he had recovered $2,595 in an apartment occupied by one of the youths at Wymore. He said $550 had been spent on a car which also was recovered.

Donald Prusia's Rites Thursday

Franklin—Funeral services for Donald C. Prusia, 34, fatally injured early Tuesday in an auto accident west of here, will be at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Franklin Methodist Church.

A native of Franklin, he was at the time of his death co-owner of a supper club at Republican City. He was a former co-owner of the Franklin County Sentinel at Franklin and was active in community affairs.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Prusia of Franklin, three brothers and four sisters.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6 add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. . . . 4-HOMERS HELP

Milwaukee (AP) — The national League-leading Philadelphia Phillies backed up Chris Short's tight pitching with a barrage of four home runs Wednesday and salvaged the finale of three-game series with the Milwaukee Braves, 6-1.

Gus Triandos hit two homers and Ruben Amaro and Tony Gonzalez one each as Short registered his 14th victory.

The Braves had piled up 19 runs in winning the first two games of the series and saddling the Phillies with their first two-game losing streak since July 26.

Denny Lemaster, also seeking his 14th triumph, lasted only 3⅔ innings as Short's pitching opponent. He served up Triandos' first home run in the second inning and Amaro's homer in the fourth, plus a third run on Alex Johnson's double, an infield out and a wild pitch.

Chi Chi Olivo pitched a two-run homer to Gonzalez in the seventh and Warren Spahn gave up the other homer to Triandos in the eighth.

Oddly, none of the three home run hitters had connected more than five times previously this year.

Bunt Single Nips Birds By One Run

Baltimore (AP) — Johnny Romano's bunt single drove in the tie-breaking run in a two-run eighth inning rally that gave the Cleveland Indians a 3-2 victory over the American League leading Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night.

The loss to the Indians, who have had unusual success against the Orioles this season, further whittled the Orioles' dwindling league lead by handing them their third straight loss.

The Indians have a 10-5 edge in the season series with the Orioles and are 7-2 at Baltimore, where the Orioles have lost only 24 games all year. And for the second straight night, they beat Baltimore with an eight inning rally.

A squeeze bunt by slugger Romano, on a 1-2 count with two out, scored Chico Salmon and broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth. Vic Davalillo followed with a run-scoring double to give Cleveland a 3-1 edge.

Norm Siebern opened the Oriole eighth with his ninth homer. After a two-out single by Earl Robinson and a walk to Russ Snyder, winner Lee Stange struck out pinch hitter Bob Johnson.

Stange has only a 6-12 record with Minnesota and Cleveland this season, but he is 4-1 against the Orioles. He was relieved in the ninth by Don McMahon.

Lincoln Midget Football Program Needs Players

The search is on for young football players in the Capital City, according to officials of Lincoln's Midget Football program.

Lincoln's junior section of the program has been dropped because of a lack of interest at last week's registration period, but attempts are under way to set up a league with two Lincoln teams and teams from Omaha and other Nebraska cities.

However, Lincoln officials say they need more boys who will be in the eighth grade or less this fall to make the program go. The plan would have a north and a south team from Lincoln with O Street as the dividing line.

Lincoln youngsters may register for the program at the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce office at 208 No. 11th.

Ken Venturi Ranks Favorite To Win Richest Golf Tournament In History

Birmingham, Mich. (AP) — Temporary slumps by Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus make a virtual free-for-all of the $200,000 Carling World Championship Golf Tournament, starting Thursday over the Oakland Hills Course.

"I think I have found my choking price," commented blond Bruce Crampton of Australia, scanning the impressive prize list—$35,000 for the winner, $17,000 for the runner-up, and $1,000 and over to the top 36 finishers.

There has never been a richer golf tournament. Players have stocked up on tranquilizer pills for the next four days.

Crampton is one of 48 players from 13 foreign countries who will battle 107 leading American contestants for the pile of gold.

The favorite, because he is brimming with confidence and at the peak of his game, is Ken Venturi, the National Open champion and comebacker of the year. He won the American Golf Classic last weekend and has been the hottest player in pre-tournament practice rounds over this 6,907-yard, par 70 layout on the outskirts of Detroit.

"Ken is really pouring those shots in there," said Palmer, the Masters titleholder. "He is so sure of himself now he doesn't think he can miss a shot."

Both Palmer and Nicklaus have pulled up short in the mid-summer hot weather tournaments, finishing high but failing to dominate the tour as expected.

They still lead the scoring averages—regarded as the true test of golf—with marks just under 70, but they have been unable to shake their new "bridgesmaid" images.

Sharing the favorite's role with Venturi are three new stars—Tony Lema, the British Open champion; Bobby Nichols, winner of the PGA, and Puerto Rico's playful Chi Chi Rodriguez, liked because of his tremendous driving length in spite of his 120-pound frame.

"You have to be long to win here, and I'm not long enough," said Ben Hogan, who captured the third of his four U.S. Opens over a tougher Oakland Hills course in 1951.

"It's much too big for me" acknowledged Koichi Ono of Japan.

"The length will eliminate most of the foreigners," agreed Bob Charles of New Zealand. "This course, with its farways softened by weeks of rain, is simply too tough for the fellows from overseas who are accustomed to fast, hard layouts."

Nats Nip Yankees' Drive, 2-1

New York (AP)—Lester Buster Narum, with only one victory to his credit in more than two months, chilled the New York bats Wednesday with a stunning five-hitter for a 2-0 Washington triumph that short-circuited the Yankees' drive to overtake the American League-leading Baltimore Orioles.

Right-hander Mel Stottlemyre, previously unbeaten rookie sensation, permitted only four Senator hits himself but had the misfortune of allowing half of the total in the fifth inning.

Those pair of hits, a double by Mike Brumley and a single by Don Zimmer, together with a rare misplay by catcher Elston Howard, paved the way for both Washington runs. They led to Narum's ninth victory against 10 defeats, and only his second triumph since June 21.

The loss was the first in the majors for the 22-year-old Stottlemyre, who had beaten Chicago, Baltimore and Boston in three successive starts since his promotion from Richmond two weeks ago. The 23-year-old Narum, acquired by the Senators from the Orioles last spring, walked two and struck out four. He allowed only one runner to reach third but had to weather threats in the seventh and ninth innings to record his second big league shutout.

A fine shoestring catch by center fielder Don Lock of a liner by Mickey Mantle with two on and one out in the ninth snuffed out the last Yankee hope. Lock came in fast for the sharply hit ball and threw to second to double up Tony Kubek.

Narum also pitched himself out of a serious jam in the seventh after Tommy Tresh had singled and advanced to second on a walk to Mantle with nobody out. The young right-hander retired Roger Maris on a fly ball which sent Tresh to third, then induced Joe Pepitone to ground into a double play.

Devaney's Mark Ranks Near Top

Kansas City (AP) — The Big Eight Conference has three coaches among the nation's top 25 in lifetime records, with Bob Devaney of Nebraska in second place, Missouri's Dan Devine fourth and Jack Mitchell of Kansas 24th.

Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson led the national list with 145 victories, 29 defeats and four ties before leaving coaching for the senatorial race. John Vaught of Mississippi took over the No. 1 position.

Nebraska's 10-1 season, including the Orange Bowl crown, pushed Devaney's record to 54 won, 13 lost and 5 tied. This is a .785 winning percentage, counting ties as a half game won, half lost. Vaught's is .795.

Devine dropped from third to fourth, a scant three percentage points behind Frank Kush of Arizona State. Devine's record is 70-19-5 for a .772 mark over nine years.

The top 25 list includes only coaches with at least six head coaching seasons at schools classified as major by the NCAA. Kush reached the six-year mark last season.

Mitchell's record for 11 years, the last six at Kansas, is 64-40-6 for a .609 percentage, a fractional point behind Dr. Eddie Anderson of Holy Cross.

Twins Tumble In Twelve, 2-1

. . . IN CHICAGO

Chicago (AP)—The Chicago White Sox pushed across a run in the 12th inning on an error by Rich Rollins, a passed ball and Don Buford's single, defeated Minnesota 2-1 Wednesday night and climbed to within one percentage point of the American League lead.

The victory left the White Sox trailing first-place Baltimore .606 to .605. The Orioles list to Cleveland 3-2.

Rollins opened the door in the 12th when he grabbed Gerry McNertney's grounder and fired over first base as McNertney raced to second. After McNertney took third on a passed ball by Earl Battey, Gene Stephens was intentionally walked.

Jim Landis then drew another walk off Johnny Klippstein, loading the bases, before Buford rapped his game-winning hit.

Ed Fisher, who took over in relief for the White Sox in the ninth, got the victory with three innings of hitless relief and brought his record to 6-2.

The Twins, shut out on three hits for seven innings by Joel Horlen, had tied the score in the eighth inning when Tony Oliva walked and Harmon Killebrew doubled. With two out, Minnesota continued to threaten as Bob Allison walked.

Hoyt Wilhelm replaced Horlen and the runners immediately advanced when one of the relief specialist's pitches got away from J. C. Martin. Wilhelm, however, pitched out of the jam by getting Zoilo Versalles to ground out.

The White Sox had broken a scoreless tie between Horlen and Camilo Pascual in the sixth, taking a 1-0 lead on Moose Skowron's two-out triple and a single by Ron Hansen.

Nebraska's Bailey Tops Trapshooters

Vandalia, Ohio (AP)—Bueford C. Bailey, who raises wheat and cattle on 18,000 acres near Big Springs, Neb., emerged from a gruelling grind Wednesday as America's top 16-yard trapshooter.

The 39-year-old rancher broke 200 straight to tie two others for the North American clay target championship and then broke another 75 in a row to take the title.

Russ Saathoff, 31-year-old dairyman from Niles, Mich., finished second with 73 of 75 in the shoot-off, and 34-year-old John E. Cain III, a building contractor from Nashville, Tenn., took third as he missed the 12th target in the extra heat.

A record field of 1,205, up 59 from last year, fired for the trophy at the 65th Grand American Trapshoot.

Cornhuskers Head Into Camp For 'Photo Day' On Monday

. . . BEFORE BUCKLING DOWN ON GRIDIRON

Nebraska's Cornhuskers will commence assembling this weekend prior to launching preparations for defense of their Big 8 football championship.

Coach Bob Devaney, who has earned Big 8 Coach-of-the-Year honors for two straight seasons enroute to a 19-3 record at Nebraska, will introduce the Cornhuskers to the press-radio-TV corps at Photo Day — Monday.

After skylarking for the shutter-bugs, the Husker camp will turn dead serious the following day.

Fall camp plans call for double sessions for approximately 10 days. The morning session will start at 9 a.m., with the afternoon grind set for 2:30 p.m.

"We don't know exactly how long we will continue two-a-day drills," Devaney said. "A lot will depend on the weather and how fast we improve."

Sebraska opens the 1964 season against South Dakota on Sept. 19.

Devaney indicated the Husker turnout Monday could be as high as 74 candidates, but opined that the squad probably would number less "because several bosy who have asked to try out this fall may not show up. We'll probably have just about six full teams."

On the positive side of the ledger are 25 lettermen, all veterans of the 1963 squad which posted a 7-0 Big 8 mark, 9-1 season total (good for national Top 10 honors) and defeated Auburn, 13-7, in the Orange Bowl.

Returning starters are end Tony Jeter, tackle Larry Cramer and halfback Bobby Hohn. Alternate unit veterans are ends Chuck Doepke and Freeman White, guards John Dervin and Bernie McGinn, center Lyle Sittler, quarterback Fred Duda, halfback Kent McCloughan and fullback Bruce Smith.

Four position changes will stir particular interest this fall. McCloughan has been shifted from right to left halfback for his senior campaign. The Broken Bow sprinter starred for the Husker track team last spring and must adapt quickly in fall camp. Duncan Drum also moves from guard to center.

Walt Barnes, who lettered at center as a soph, moved to right tackle last spring and made good progress. He's got to continue at full speed and sophomores must assume heavy responsibilities if the Huskers hope to even approach 1963 tackle excellence. Ron Griesse also moves from tackle to right guard in a key switch to help plug the huge vacancy left by All American, Bob Brown.

Yogi Doubles Duty For Yank Pitchers

New York (AP) — Yogi Berra will never admit it but he appears to have lost faith in his beleaguered bullpen crew.

Barring a change of mind, the New York Yankee manager plans from now on to have his starters double in relief as the Yanks go all out to overtake first-place Baltimore in quest of their fifth successive American League pennant.

Although Berra had all his relievers rested and ready, he chose to bring in starter Al Downing in the ninth inning Tuesday night in the Yanks' 4-1 triumph over Washington. The young left hander responded by striking out three men, preserving Whitey Ford's 13th victory and his first since July 15.

"Downing needed the work," said Berra, careful not to make it appear he was critical of his relief corps. "He hadn't pitched since Saturday and he is not due to start again until Friday.

"He did good, didn't he? And I'm gonna do the same with Jim Bouton tomorrow. And Ford on Saturday. I'll have them in the bullpen.

"Why not? They go down there to throw some anyway. I told Downing not to start throwing until I gave the word. I gave it to him in the eighth inning. All I want from those guys is an inning, or even to pitch to one batter, if the game is close.

"I figure instead of throwing for exercise, they can help us win a game."

Cards' Rookie Sets Pirates Down, 4-2

. . . COMPLETE SERIES SWEEP

St. Louis (AP)—Rookie Mike Cuellar pitched his first complete game in the majors as the St. Louis Cardinals completed a sweep of a three-game series from Pittsburgh with a 4-2 victory Wednesday night.

Lou Brock homered in the fifth inning, giving the Cardinals a 2-2 tie. Moments later St. Louis took the lead on a triple by Dick Groat and Ken Boyer's single.

Boyer drove in the first St. Louis run in the third, beating out an infield hit as Curt Flood, who had doubled, scored from third.

Cuellar, 5-3, was touched for solo homers by Donn Clendenon and Gene Alley in the fifth, but allowed only four other hits.

The loser was Frank Bork 2-1, a last-minute replacement for Don Schwall, who missed his turn because of a sore elbow.

A perfect relay from Brock to Julian Javier to catcher Tim McCarver on Bob Bailey's double in the eighth cut down Alley when he tried to score the tying run from first base.

Cubs Halt Colt Bid For Seven In Row

. . . JACKSON WINS 16TH

Houston (AP) — Home runs by Ernie Banks and Ron Santo helped Larry Jackson to his 16th victory as the Chicago Cubs stopped Houston's six-game winning streak with a 3-1 triumph Wednesday night.

The loss prevented the Colts from becoming the first team in the National League to win seven consecutive games this season.

Jackson, who has lost 10 games, scattered six hits, two coming in the sixth inning when the Colts scored their run. Pinch hitter Carroll Hardy opened the inning with a single, went to second on a passed ball, moved to third on an infield out and came home as Nellie Fox singled.

Banks slammed his 16th homer off starter Hal Brown in the fourth while Santo connected for his 25th off Brown in the sixth.

The Cubs scored in the first on singles by Jim Stewart and Doug Clemens and a force play

Eagle Champion Will Take Home Purse Of $600

The largest purse ever paid in this area will go to the winner of the Nebraska third-mile Championships at Eagle Raceways, Sept. 12th.

The feature winner of the Saturday night run for the super modified and hoodoo title will take home $600 as his share of the total $2500 purse.

Entries are on file from Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska with the fifth fastest qualifier in the Nationals, Bill Uts of Sedalia, Mo., the first to enter.

First Nebraska Modified Racing Association entry was the popular Joe Saldana. "Little Joe", protege of Gordon Wooley and youngest member of the NMRA recently picked up his first feature win and is considered a real threat to take home the $600 plum.

Stallard Trips Reds As Mets Take 8th Of 10

Cincinnati (AP)—Tracy Stallard pitched a five-hitter as the New York Mets defeated Cincinnati 3-1 Wednesday night for their eighth victory in 10 games.

Stallard, bringing his record to 8-16, allowed only four singles until Don Pavletich homered in the seventh inning.

Ed Kranepool drove in two of the Mets' runs. His single in the fourth inning brought in George Altman, who had doubled, and his sacrifice fly sent Ron Hunt home with what turned out to be the winning run in the sixth.

Grenemeiers Take City Softball Title

Grenemeiers exploded for six runs in the second inning Wednesday to sweep to an easy 10-3 victory over Chubbyville and captured first place in the Class A City Softball Tournament.

The score was a complete reversal of Tuesday's game which Chubbyville won 10-3 to force a sudden-death showdown.

Omahan Reynolds Out Of Seniors Tournament

Colorado Springs—An Omaha golfer, Sam Reynolds, was defeated, 4 and 3 Wednesday, by Dorsey Nevergall in the World Senior Golf Tournament being held in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Tournament is limited to players 55 years of older.

Ex-Husker Brand Wins In Olympic Mat Trials

New York (AP)—Dean Lahr, NCAA champion from the University of Colorado, was named outstanding competitor in the U.S. Olympic freestyle wrestling trials which concluded a three-day 378-bout program Wednesday night at the World's Fair.

Lahr clinched the vote of the judges by scoring an easy decision over Charlie Tribble of San Bernardino, Calif., to finish first in the 171.5-pound class.

Two former Olympians, Gray Simons at 114.5-pounds, and Dan Brand at 191.5, came through as expected in their respective classes.

Brand, freestyle and Greco-Roman titlist at 213.5 in the AAU meet in June, earned his spot to the training camp by outpointing Harry Houska of Parma, Ohio.

The winner, a representative of the San Francisco Olympic Club, was sixth in the '60 games at 191.5.

Other winners were Bob Douglas of Bridgeport, Ohio in the 138.5-pound class; Jim Burke of San Francisco, 154.5 pounds; and heavyweight Larry Kristoff of Carbondale, Ill.

Kristoff outpointed Jim Raschke, the National AAU freestyle and Greco-Roman champion. Raschke, a Nebraska graduate, grapples for the U.S. Army and the New York A.C. He took second by defeating Peter Skarzenski of Glen Head, N.Y.

Giants Stagger In NL Race, 2-1

Los Angeles (AP)—Doug Camilli blooped a run-producing single to center field with two out in the ninth inning, bringing the Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants Wednesday night.

The loss dropped the Giants 7½ games behind National League-leading Philadelphia.

Jones Cut From Redskins' Roster

Washington (AP)—Coach Bill McPeak announced Wednesday night a reduction of seven players to bring the Washington Redskins down to the required player limit of 45.

Among the seven were veterans Gorden Kelley, a tackle, and Tommie Neck, a defensive back.

Five rookies completed the group. They included Dick Drummond, Gary Stearns, Bob Jones, Bob Hinton, and Len Vellas.

Huskers' Lodwig Competing For Olympic Berth

Keefe Lodwig, University of Nebraska swimmer from Omaha, will be among the nation's top swimmers bidding for berths on the U.S. Olympic Squad in New York City.

Lodwig leaves this morning for the Olympic trials. The NU athlete, who coached and swam for the Omaha Peony Park swim team this summer, qualified for the Olympic trials with a :56.3 clocking in the 100-meter freestyle. This time is seven-tenths of a second under the time needed to qualify for the trials in that event.

Lodwig was a member of Peony Park relay teams this summer that bettered world records in the 200-meter freestyle relay and the 200-meter medley relay.

Will the real B&L man please stand up?

Here's how to tell a real B&L man. He likes to be where the action is... and the livelier the action, the better he likes it. When it comes to a glass of whiskey, he expects man-sized taste. (When he wants something soft, he'll have a bottle of pop.) He likes the unique combination of mellowness and flavor he gets only with B&L Kentucky Straight Bourbon. Now then, will the real B&L man please stand up? Just as we thought. It's the man in the center of action. And that's you.

Lombardi Cracks Packer Whip

. . . "WE'LL SINK OR SWIM WITH HORNUNG," SAYS MENTOR

13th In A Series

West de Pere, Wis. (AP)—Vince Lombardi has the whip out this year. Aroused by two defeats at the hands of the Chicago Bears, and loss of the NFL title, Lombardi is driving his Green Bay Packers as they never have been driven before.

"The first Bear game last year was the biggest disappointment of my career," said Lombardi at the training camp at St. Norbert College. "We couldn't have beaten them in the second game with blackjacks, but we should have won the first.

"We are looking forward to this year. I have been driving the boys hard. We will be in physical condition. But the big thing is pride in your work . . . the intangibles, the abstracts. You never know about that until the games start."

Paul Hornung was the first to feel the sting of Lombardi's hard approach of 1964. The Golden Boy, reinstated after a one-year suspension for betting on games, was ordered to report in April. Running up and down the steps of the Packers' stadium pared off the pounds so that Hornung goes into the season at 212 pounds, six below his weight in 1962.

"We'll sink or swim with Hornung," said Lombardi, coach-general manager of the Packers. "Paul is in fine condition mentally and physically. The rest is up to him."

Lombardi may throw three running backs at National Football League opposition in some games. Tom Moore, who did a fine job as Hornung's replacement, has been worked as a slot back or flanker.

"We did that with the Giants, you know," said Lombardi, former New York assistant coach. "We ran Frank Gifford, Alex Webster and Mel Triplett in the same backfield. I could do it real well if the occasion arrises."

Jim Taylor appears to have recovered completely from the hepatitis that handicapped him during the early games last season. With Taylor booming up the middle and Hornung and Moore to run to the outside, the Packers' ground attack should be the best in the league.

Bart Starr will operate a ball-control offense, copied so successfully by the Bears last year. Bart has fine targets in Max McGee at split end, tight end Ron Kramer and Boyd Dowler at flanker but also likes to throw to his backs more than most quarterbacks. Hornung, Moore and Taylor all are good receivers.

Lombardi thinks he has come up with a real hot prospect in Dennis Claridge, a rookie quarterback from Nebraska.

Originally Claridge was drafted as a running back but he has thrown the ball so effectively that Lombardi now says, "We may groom him for quarterback in a couple of years." Zeke Bratkowski is the veteran backup man for Starr.

"This is the best group of long linemen we have had in camp since I have been with the Packers," said Lombardi. "We needed reserve and I think we have them now."

The front offensive line will be the same except for Bob Skoronski, formerly a tackle, who takes over Jim Ringo's old job at center. Fuzzy Thurston and Jerry Kramer are the guards and Norm Masters and Forrest Gregg the tackles.

Lee Roy Caffey, who came from Philadelphia in the deal for Earl Gros and Ringo, is giving Dan Currie a battle for a linebacker job. Ray Nitschke is set at middle linebacker and Dave Robinson on the right side.

The front four of Willie Davis, Dave (Hawg) Hanner, Henry Jordan and Lionel Aldridge is intact. So is the deep backfield defense of Herb Adderley and Jesse Whittenton at the corners and Hank Gremminger and Willie Wood at safety.

Hornung takes over the field goal and extra point job from Jerry Kramer and Jerry Norton will do the punting.

The ultimate target is the title game Dec. 27 but objective No. 1 is that opening game with the Bears, Sept. 13 at Green Bay. Keep your guard up, Mr. Halas.

Demeter Blasts Another Homer To Pace Tigers

Boston (AP) — Dave Wickersham posted his 16th victory with a five-hitter while Don Demeter and Jerry Lumpe hit homers, leading Detroit to a 4-1 victory over Boston Wednesday night.

Wickersham, who has lost nine games, was locked in a scoreless duel with Boston's Bob Heffner until the sixth when Demeter triggered a two-run rally with a towering shot that cleared the screen atop the left field wall.

Viet Nam Political Problems Deepen

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Officers of the ruling revolutionary council were stalled Thursday on a key point of Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh's program for governmental reform, his pledge that they will return to strictly military duties.

Complicating the situation was a report that the 37-year-old strongman has two rivals, both influential generals, for the national leadership he put in escrow on resigning the presidency under mob pressure Tuesday.

Fresh riots by Buddhist and student elements in the north and student threats of further disorders in Saigon reflected a deepening of the political crisis that has pushed the U.S.-backed war against Communist guerrillas into the background.

Failure

Khanh failed at a five-hour meeting Wednesday night to convince fellow members of the 60-man junta that they should quit politics.

Looking tired and tense, he arranged for another meeting Thursday.

"The situation is very serious," he said. "We men in the Vietnamese army must take time to think about the problem."

'Not Close'

Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khiem, one of the junta's most powerful officers, told newsmen: "We are not even close to a decision."

Serving as defense minister, Khiem seemed to have emerged as a prime candidate for the presidency, premiership or whatever job the junta may designate as the top spot in a revamped political hierarchy.

Khanh was reported to have gone into the night session running third in popularity among junta members to Khiem and to Maj. Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh, the former chief of state he supplanted Aug. 16.

Crosby To Lead GOP Ceremonies

Former Gov. Robert Crosby will serve as master of ceremonies for the grand opening of County Republican Headquarters Monday, it was announced by Jess Polson, Republican vice chairman.

Polson said a short program, officially opening the headquarters, will be held at noon. Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, Republican candidate for governor, and Charles Thone, GOP lieutenant governor candidate, will attend the opening.

Republican county commissioner candidate Bill Jones will greet voters throughout the day, Polson said.

JAYCEES PROMOTING AG VOCATIONS TO 4-H YOUTHS

"We can't afford to lose youth from agriculture as there are too many fields in farming, ranching and agribusiness that need their talents," said Gordon Busboom, executive secretary, Nebraska Cooperative Council.

Busboom who assisted with the recent American Institute of Cooperation program at East Lansing, Mich., reported that Nebraska youth played a vital part in the national meeting which was co-chairmanned by Joan Skinner, a 4-H club member from Wisner.

Busboom has termed the newly formed Club of Champions headed by the Lincoln Jaycees as "a most important investment in Nebraska 4-H youth who are the coming generation in keeping Nebraska a beef state."

The Club of Champions will represent businesses and individuals who support the State Fair 4-H club baby beef sale.

The Lincoln Jaycees in an effort to develop a closer contact between the young livestockmen and their friends have organized the club to provide events where Nebraska 4-H club members can become familiar with the interest that the state has in their business, explained Don Leising, Lincoln Jaycee.

"If the boys and girls of Nebraska know that their business is recognized as the most important in creating new wealth it should boost their morale in doing a better job of making Nebraska a beef state," says Art Knox, Lincoln Jaycee and chairman of the State Jaycee Agricultural Committee.

Red Land, Green Sun

Moscow (AP) — The citizens of Krasnodar in Red Russia recently awoke to a green sun. Tass reported the phenomenon was caused by a thick air layer dispersing light into simple colors. A century ago people in the same northern Caucusus area saw a wine-colored sun.

Lyndon Johnson Shows His Physical Stamina

Washington (AP) —President Johnson hiked 4½ miles in 90 degree heat Wednesday and along the way gave newsmen a statement by four doctors who said there is no health reason why Johnson "should not continue an active vigorous life."

Johnson, who suffered a serious heart attack in 1955, obviously took special delight in coupling his announcement of the glowing medical report with a personal demonstration of physical stamina.

It probably was no accident that the President made the announcement only a few hours before the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City was to nominate him as the party candidate for a full four-year term in the White House.

Perspiring reporters who trekked 15 laps around the back driveway of the White House with Johnson found irony in one sentence of the 71-word medical statement.

'Exercise Tolerance'

The doctors said Johnson's "exercise tolerance continues to be superb."

Johnson and the newsmen walked for 90 minutes in the high-humidity heat, holding a marathon news conference all along the route, which set a new record for Johnson hikes.

The President, in addition to discussing his health, talked about his campaign plans, his pleasure over the Democratic convention—"no knock-downs or drag-outs," he said — and his pollster-bolstered optimism about the November election.

But the big item, apart from talk about Johnson's long search for a vice presidential running mate, was the state of the President's health.

Johnson said he had been given a complete physical—the first one announced since he became President last Nov. 22—after a nine-lap hike around the backyard on Monday.

The doctors' key finding about Johnson, who will be 56 years old Thursday, was stated in this fashion:

Active Life

"There is no health reason why he should not continue an active vigorous life."

Johnson seemed fresh and dapper at the end of the hike, though the suits of some newsmen were soaked through with perspiration.

The President had four copies of the medical statement in a side pocket of his suit and, in reaching for them, pulled out a folded paper and exclaimed:

"Oh, I guess that's a Gallup Poll. It's a good one."

Fumbling in his pocket anew, he produced the verdict from the medical men.

Later, he dipped into the same pocket again to pull forth a series of poll results, which he recited with relish.

Johnson said that most polls across the country indicate that Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, has the support of 25-30% of the electorate, "and we run, generally speaking, 60-70%."

Not All States

Johnson said that, of all the state by state polls he has seen, he topped the 70 mark in only one—Maine—and fell below 60% in two—Wisconsin, at 59%, and Indiana, at 55%. He indicated he did not have poll results from some states.

Johnson, speaking of his own campaign plans, said that his first mission is to "stay right here in this house and do my job."

But he indicated he would travel around the country one, two, or three days a week, announcing his schedule on a week by week basis.

He said a number of campaign season engagements have been tentatively lined up, but he mentioned only two dates—Labor Day in Detroit, if all goes well, and appearances in New York City on Oct. 15.

The President seemed ecstatic in discussing the Democratic convention, saying that there were "no roll calls, no fights, no knock downs and drag outs, and no personal charges."

While politics dominated the talkathon, Johnson made one announcement dealing with official business, and perhaps it could be fairly said that this had political overtones.

Keep Budget Down

Just Wednesday, he said, he issued orders that all advance estimates be designed to keep the budget he will send to Congress in January below $100 billion.

Johnson was credited with a good measure of fiscal skill in holding last January's budget document below that level. He said he wants to do it again.

EAST GERMANY QUIETLY RELEASES WESTERNERS

Bonn, Germany (UPI) — East Germany is quietly releasing West Germans and West Berliners held as political prisoners in Communist jails, it was learned Thursday.

Informed sources said the released prisoners were being returned by buses to West Germany. The buses pass through the East-West Germany border crossing point at Wartha.

The sources said the two Germanies may have come to some quiet agreement to ease relations "by mutual example." This would be similar to the informal agreement between the United States and Russia to reduce nuclear stockpiles.

The number of West Germans released so far was not known. The West German government has said 12,000 political prisoners are in East German jails. Only a fraction of them—possibly about 1,000—are West Germans or West Berliners, however.

West German authorities on Monday released East German publisher Guenter Hoffe without explanation. He had spent 10 months under investigative arrest for alleged espionage.

Italian Arrested For Cheating The Tourists

Rome (AP) — Police said they arrested an Italian on charges of cheating foreign tourists by selling them "Etruscan antiquities" that he made himself.

In fact, said investigators who searched almost a year for Mario Mentuccia, 40, he sometimes brought his clients to remote sites and helped them dig up "discoveries" he had buried.

Belgians Guzzle Most

London (AP) — It was a close guzzle, but Belgians outdrank West Germans in 1963 for No. 1 spot among the world's beer drinkers. The British Brewers Society said Belgian consumption was 25.5 gallons per head of population to West Germany's 25 gallons.

John Glenn Offered Job By Soft Drink Bottling Company

Columbus, Ga. (UPI) — A soft drink bottling firm said Wednesday it had offered astronaut John Glenn a public relations post and the Marine colonel was debating whether to accept.

W. H. Glenn, president of the Royal Crown Cola Bottling Co., denied that Glenn, who made the nation's first orbital flight, had actually joined the firm. The two Glenns are not related.

The bottling company president said the astronaut hasn't been able to make a decision yet."

The executive said Glenn is still in the Marine Corps and probably would not make a final decision on the offer until his status is settled.

Glenn became the first American to make an orbital flight on Feb. 20, 1962, when he circled the earth three times in a Mercury capsule launched from then Cape Canaveral.

He suffered a fall in a bathtub earlier this year and the resulting ear injury forced him to withdraw from his race for the U.S. Senate from Ohio.

Glenn makes his home near Houston, Tex., where he has been recuperating from the fall.

Demos To Send State 'The Best'

Lincoln Star Special

Atlantic City — Nebraska Democrats have "a real good chance" of booking Sen. Hubert Humphrey as their Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner speaker next month, state chairman John Mitchell of Kearney said Wednesday night.

The annual party affair is slated in Omaha Sept. 18.

Mitchell said the party hopes to have the biggest dinner any political party has ever held in Nebraska, or more than 2,000 participants.

If Humphrey is unable to speak, Mitchell said he may be able to book Gov. John Connally of Texas, Sen. Pierre Salinger of California, Sen. John Pastore of Rhode Island or Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges.

Paul Aiken, head of the Democratic speakers' bureau, told a delegation caucus that "we will get you the best."

Nebraska is important in the 1964 presidential campaign, he said.

Anti-Poverty Program For OmahaTalked

Omaha (AP) — The possible participation of Omaha in the federal anti-poverty program came under discussion by key members of the mayor's biracial committee and the staff of the urban league.

Douglas Stewart, Urban League executive director, proposed that the biracial committee be the nucleus of an organization that would draw up the machinery to build a so-called community action program. This would be under title II of the Anti-Poverty Act.

The purpose of this title is to provide stimulation and incentive for urban and rural communities to mobilize their resources-public and private-to combat poverty through community action programs.

Two spokesmen for the Urban League cited statistics which they said showed the unemployment rate among Omaha Negroes is from 7 to 10%. One said 32% of the Negro families fall in the "poverty" classification, if it is defined as an income of less than $3,000 a year.

Cuba, Bulgaria Sign New Trade Agreement

Havana (AP) — Cuba and Bulgaria have signed a new trade agreement for the period between 1965 and 1967.

The announcement said Bulgaria will buy 1.1 million tons of sugar in that period—an increase of 250% over the 1960-64 period—and that Cuba will buy heavy machinery, canned foods and electrical appliances.

Capitol Flags Door Prizes At Dinner For GOP

Fremont (UPI)—U.S. flags which have been flown atop the nation's capitol in Washington will be given as door prizes for a Republican testimonial dinner here on Sept. 4.

E. A. Jaksha, dinner chairman, said Rep. Ralph Beermann, R-Neb., has made arrangements for the flags to be flown. A special certificate from the architect at the capitol will accompany the flags and verify the fact of their being flown in Washington.

Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer is the featured speaker for the dinner at which Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, lieutenant governor candidate Charles Thone, Beermann and other candidates will be honored guests.

NREA Meeting Set Here Friday

The semi-annual meeting of the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn. (NREA) will be held in Lincoln Friday, with directors and managers of the state's rural electric systems in attendance.

Keynote speaker will be Al Hauffe of Leola, S.D., president of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn.

Stocks Decline In Slow Trade

New York (AP)—The stock market declined Wednesday for the second straight session as volume shrank to the lowest total in more than two weeks.

Stocks were fairly steady in early trading as they recovered selectively from Tuesday's sinking spell. But there was no great incentive to buy.

Uncertainty deepened as to whether a crippling auto strike would be called next Monday. This was Wall Street's dominant concern. To it was added late in the day news that a nationwide rail strike is possible by Sept. 6 unless an agreement is reached with unions representing off-train workers.

The auto stocks, firm at the start, steadied again in late dealings after a period of faltering.

The Dow Jones industrial average lost 2.99 at 829.21, and once more was approaching the 820 level which, in recent months, has provided support for temporary rallies.

Volume of 3.3 million shares compared with 3.77 million Tuesday.

Losses of scattered blue chips, running to 1 or 2 points, dragged at the averages, although the general run of price changes was in fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.0 to 312.6 with industrials down 1.4, rails down .9 and utilities down .2.

Of 1,311 issues traded, 424 rose and 611 fell. New highs for the year totaled 23 and new lows 54.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks declined, five advanced and Pan American was unchanged.

On the American Stock Exchange, volume sank to 980,000 shares from 1.2 million Tuesday.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Corn, Soybeans Hit New Highs

Chicago (AP)—Corn and soybean futures extended their price advance into the third consecutive day on the Board of Trade Wednesday and several contracts of both again hit new highs for the season.

For soybeans it raised the gains for the week so far to about eight cents a bushel.

The feed grains added about a cent on most deliveries and wheat closed narrowly mixed with activity almost at a standstill.

At the close of trading, wheat was ¼ cent a bushel higher to ⅜ lower, September new grade $1.43½; corn ¾-1⅛ higher, September $1.24⅛-⅜; oats ½-1 cent higher, September 65⅝-¾ cents; rye ⅝-1¾ higher, September $1.27¾; soybeans 2⅝-3 cents higher, September $2.56⅝-¾.

Johnson's Desire, Efforts Seek Big Presidential Election Victory

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP)—President Johnson thinks big, aims high and usually gets what he goes after. And right now he is going after the biggest presidential election victory in all history.

To get it he would have to wipe out the record set in 1936 when his political idol and mentor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, captured all but two states.

The odds are against Johnson beating, matching or even approaching that record. But if he fails, it won't be for lack of desire or effort.

For here is a man who wants to prove, and intends to prove, that President John F. Kennedy was right and wise in tapping him four years ago as a possible successor. And here is a man who wants to fortify with an election triumph next November something he has been saying a bit plaintively since last November:

President Of All

"The way I feel about it, I am President of all the people."

So Lyndon B. Johnson will be going out to battle Republican Barry Goldwater for the votes of every last American.

And as the newly nominated presidential candidate of the Democrats, he will be holding aloft the party standard he once considered beyond the reach of any Southerner in this generation.

Stories that Johnson might sit back and handle affairs of state and leave the heaviest part of the campaigning to his running mate seem about as plausible as an August blizzard at the LBJ ranch in Texas. This would be entirely out of character for a man who shuns inertia and inaction of any kind— a man who plays politics like Heifetz plays the violin, with zest, flair and the deft touch of the virtuoso.

For 26 years on Capitol Hill, in the House, Senate and vice presidency, Johnson provided a dazzling display of these talents.

As President, he can be credited with one of the neatest tricks of political magic in many a day. That was the way this southern liberal lured some big names of big business (Henry Ford II, for example) away from traditional loyalty to the Republicans. And he did this, apparently, without alienating a single major chieftain of organized labor.

Politics Is Profession

Politics with Johnson, who will be 56 years old Thursday, is his profession, his play, and his passion. He breathes it. And he succeeds at it by threatening, wheedling, coaxing, cajoling, compromising and working at it everlastingly.

The campaign could get off to a slow start — Johnson talks about it and some of the Democrats stew about it —and then roar to a climax in October. That was the tactic that worked for Roosevelt.

It will be a campaign in which the President will attempt to take up the whole middle of the road, beckon to everybody along the way to flock to his cause, and force the opposition to attack from the right.

The strategy is to depict Goldwater as a man on a mountain top, aloof from the people and the world's realities and from that "mainstream of American political thinking" which both sides keep talking about.

This is a campaign in which the Kennedy image will be allowed to fade into the background to a large extent. Johnson wants a Johnson victory, built on a Johnson program and a Johnson record and Johnson popularity.

Business Cordiality

With businessmen, Johnson has achieved a cordiality Kennedy never enjoyed. With Congress, he always has had a way which Kennedy never could have hoped to match.

And the new President can point to a rather impressive legislative record headed by such key items as an $11.5-billion tax cut, the most sweeping civil rights law since the Civil War, and a bill to combat poverty in a land of plenty.

"I don't want to be remembered as a 'can't do' man," Johnson said a few weeks ago.

Yet in foreign affairs, this man who proclaims the pursuit of peace his one purpose above all others has been pretty much treading water.

Foreign policy definitely will be a factor in the campaign. In fact, it has been for weeks, with Goldwater pecking at it and Johnson and his team answering back.

The President figures that there will be three top issues: peace, preparedness, prosperity. Of these, he has tabbed prosperity for top emphasis. Few presidents get turned out of office in good times.

Good Times

And Johnson is counting on good times to counteract the "white backlash" among people who worry about racial violence in the streets and possibly a drop in property values should Negroes move in next door.

Yet should Johnson lose the election, the defeat might be attributed largely to his sturdy upholding of civil rights.

His anti-poverty program is one that pushes the President off into oratorical flights, with accompanying touches of corn and homespun humor and stories.

"I know something about poverty," Johnson has said. "I've worked with my hands. I've done everything from shining shoes to working on the roads for a dollar a day."

That's true.

Johnson wasn't a poor boy for long.

Worked In College

He worked his way through Southwest Texas State College, won his spurs in campus politics, taught school briefly, was appointed director of the depression-born National Youth Administration in Texas, and was elected to Congress when he was 29.

Soon the Johnsons began to prosper, through investments in land and radio-television interests, and are now millionaires. The White House made public last week an accounting firm's estmate which placed the family wealth at $3,484,098.

Republicans have served notice that there will be a lot of talk during the campaign about the growth of the Johnson fortunes, and about Bobby Baker, former protege of Lyndon Johnson.

But Johnson is used to criticism and seems to have disciplined himself to accept it more blandly since becoming President. He can now dismiss it with a wisecrack: "I don't always do things the proper way, as you have observed in the newspapers."

Actually, there have been few apparent changes in the man in the nine months he has been chief executive.

More Confident

But he does appear to be more confident, more self-assured and at times more humble.

He seeks the superlative and often finds it. Probably no president in history, in a comparable period, ever has made so many speeches, grabbed so many hands, entertained so many people, danced so much, kissed so many women or appointed so many to government jobs, doused so many lights, bent so many ears or pulled so many canine ears to the accompaniment of howls heard around the world.

Ebullient Senator Humphrey Still Full Of Optimism, Zest

By JOE HALL

Atlantic City (AP) — Sen. Hubert Horatio Humphrey acts, thinks, eats and sleeps politics.

The 53-year-old Minnesotan, after 16 jam-packed years in the Senate, still has the ebullience, the optimism and the zest he brought to it as a fiery young liberal in 1949.

But there have been changes. Humphrey candidly has moderated his views to the point that he now prefers enacting a cut-down bill into law rather than going down to defeat trying for the entire loaf.

Always interested in issues and not only the strategy and tactics of politics, he has pursued this policy so successfully in the last half dozen years that he has an impressive string of legislative credits.

Entirely Similar

Humphrey and President Johnson are entirely similar in their complete absorption in political matters.

And they are alike in a folksy, homespun approach to their trade. But in other ways the senator complements Johnson on the Democratic ticket. For Humphrey is a northerner, a liberal throughout his career, and an intellectual.

The chunky Minnesotan capped his career in Congress this year with 15 weeks of slogging work as floor manager for the far-reaching civil rights bill.

This task brought the Minnesotan's career full circle. He first flashed into national attention on a sweaty night at the 1948 Democratic National Convention with an impassioned appeal for a stronger civil rights plank in the party platform.

His plank was adopted on a close vote over the objections of then President Truman.

Humphrey won election to the Senate that same year as the first Democrat ever to serve from Minnesota. He defeated Republican Sen. Joseph H. Ball.

Agriculture Work

His early committee service was on agriculture, vital to his section of the nation, and on labor and public welfare, where he worked for education and health legislation.

But, with more seniority, Humphrey moved onto two of the Senate's powerhouse committee's, appropriations which handles federal funds, and foreign relations.

In 1955 he became chairman of the disarmament subcommittee of foreign relations, and began the long years of prodding which contributed to the 1963 nuclear test-ban treaty with Russia. Out of this also came his bill to set up a disarmament agency, enacted in 1961.

Humphrey was a leading sponsor of the 1958 national defense education act and he introduced the first Peace Corps bill in 1960 before it was advocated by the late President John F. Kennedy. This was one of the first innovations enacted in the Kennedy administration.

Humphrey twice got a youth employment bill through the Senate before Johnson picked it up this year and made it a major part of his anti-poverty which Congress passed.

High Road Campaign

Johnson is reported by some of his associates planning a "high road" campaign this year on the major issues, with the No. 2 man on the ticket tabbled to do the slugging with the Republicans.

Humphrey seems to fill this bill perfectly. Articulate, immersed in issues of both foreign and domestic policy, with boundless energy, he is prepared to carry the Democratic campaign to every section of the country.

His beltline has expanded a bit and his hairline has retreated, but his bouncy, bubbling energy remains the same...

Humphrey was born May 27, 1911, over a drug store at Wallace, S.D., one of a succession of small town stores run by his father. He worked off and on in these stores for years, still calls himself a pharmacist.

In 1929 he entered the University of Minnesota on a shoestring budget, was forced to quit for awhile, but finally graduated in 1939, winning membership in Phi Beta Kappa. The next year he received his master's degree at Louisiana State University.

Humphrey married hometown sweetheart Muriel Buck, of Huron, S.D. They have four children: the oldest, Nancy, is married and the mother of two daughters.

Minneapolis Mayor

Humphrey started his political career as mayor of Minneapolis, winning on his second attempt and became a key figure molding a vibrant Democratic Party in the state.

From that group of colleagues, Humphrey was the first to win national recognition. He has been followed to Washington by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Secretary of Agriculture Orfille L. Freeman.

Humphrey entered the Senate in 1949 ready to do battle with its entrenched Southerners but he suffered quick setbacks.

Many of his colleagues looked on the Minnesotan as a brash, glib young man who did not know his place.

Over the years this has changed to the point that even Southerners agree Humphrey is in "the club"—one of its respected and influential members.

Greatest Defeat

Humphrey suffered his greatest political defeat in 1960 in his fight for the Democratic presidential nomination. He challenged Kennedy in the Wisconsin and West Virginia primaries, was beaten in both.

The new President tapped Humphrey to be Senate Democratic whip, or assistant leader, starting in 1961.

The purely practical considerations of this job have been a factor in causing the Minnesotan to modify his stand on some questions. This has led to some criticism from his old associates—the Democratic liberals. But Humphrey has an answer:

"If I believe in something, I will fight for it with all I have. But I do not demand all or nothing. I would rather get something than nothing.

"Professional liberals want the fiery debate. They glory in defeat. The hardest job for a politician today is to have the courage to be a moderate."

NU Fraternity Members Run Into Hurricane

Hurricane Cleo altered the plans of more than six Nebraskans Wednesday.

The Alpha Tau Omega (ATO) fraternity, which has a chapter on the University of Nebraska campus, was scheduled to open its biennial convention, celebrating its 100th anniversary Wednesday in the Bahama Islands.

Hurricane Cleo's activity in West Palm Beach area Wednesday morning sent back a boat carrying Jim Myrberg, NU chapter president from Lincoln and official delegate to the convention, according to his mother, Mrs. Kenneth Myrberg.

Another Lincolnite with Myrberg was John Curran, alternate delegate to the convention. About four other Nebraska ATOs and several alums with their families were also planning to attend the convention.

The convention will continue as scheduled in Miami.

Rebuilding Planned

Warsaw (AP) — The chief architect of Warsaw's massive rebuilding job after World War II has taken on another tough assignment. Adolf Ciborowski has gone to Skopje, Yugoslavia, to spend a year planning the rebuilding of the earthquake shattered city.

Journal and Star Want Ads

Your low-cost Want Ad appears daily in the Lincoln Star (Morning) and the Lincoln Journal (Evening) or the Sunday Journal and Star at the following cash rates:

Never again will you think about greasy spatter-cooking, scouring powder, grubby cookpans, broken fingernails! Teflon® by Dupont is the "middle man" between food and fry pan. Lets you fry eggs and meats, bake cakes, roast roasts without cooking-fats. Clean up? Easy as rinsing! We can't think of anything from curried chicken to caramel that will stick. Why wait, just charge it. (a) Revere Ware skillet (stainless steel outside, aluminum inside). 8-in. 7.95; 10-in. 10.95. Club Aluminum Holiday cookware with black Teflon®: (b) 4-qt.
